Did you notice the stately palm trees in front of the new high school building shown in the picture on this page? Well, those palm trees are not on the high school ground, nor has the school board any money with which to buy them. Architect Wilson put the trees in the picture. Will some good angel, or group of angels, please come forward with cash donations or palm trees, so that the school grounds may be landscaped before the school is opened next September?

"Skiing in Palm Springs!" We have heard all sorts of suggestions of additional entertainment for Palm Springs, but this one, offered to us in The Desert Sun office by Swimming Instructor Joe Rode, "takes the cake." Strange as it may seem, the plan is simple and feasible. "Make a slide on one of the hillsides and cover it with hay or straw," said Rode, "and you will find it to be as fast as any snow slide. Attendants simply throw the hay back onto the course when it is kicked off," he said, "and the slide remains good indefinitely." We have the hill, the hay, and the man with the idea, so all we need now is the skier.

Mr. Rode made another suggestion that should be received enthusiastically. He wants to see a special day of bicycle races on Palm Canyon Drive, for men, women and children. Bicycle races probably would be more popular than skiing because Palm Springs has plenty of bicycle riders and bicycles.

We received a letter this week from the Ping Pong Association of California, asking The Desert Sun to sponsor a ping pong tournament. The letter was turned over to Walt Bunker of The Sportdeck, so we may expect a ping pong tournament in the near future.

With gymkhanas, the rodeo, golf and tennis tournaments coming up in the near future, the fans will have plenty of excitement for the next few weeks.

What has happened to the trash cans that once were placed in convenient places on our streets? The trash can which at one time was in front of the postoffice received much refuse that otherwise would have cluttered up the streets. Now, since the can has disappeared, the waste paper is thrown on the streets.

It has been only the past eight or nine years that Palm Springs has been such a bustling community. If you want to see how serene and sedate it really was at one time, look at the pictures posted in front of Raymond Cree's and Archie Palmer's real estate offices. One photograph was taken on Christmas Day, 1887, and is of the old stage depot, now Mr. Cree's office. Another is of the first automobile convention held here in 1910. Still another,

Fashion Show At Desert Inn Next Saturday

Bullock's spring fashion show will be held at the Desert Inn on Tuesday, Jan. 25th. This is always the occasion for socialites who gather at Palm Springs in the winter to make up gay luncheon parties to watch the parade of manikins showing the newest spring styles.

Recent years have found as many as six hundred fashion devotees dining in the beautiful dining room and patio of the Inn to get the first glimpse of the last word in styles. Mrs. Louise de Jeffene, fashion director of Bullock's, will be in charge of next Tuesday's fashion show.

Palm Springs' New High School Now Under Construction

PALM SPRINGS HIGH SCHOOL • PALM SPRINGS • CALIFORNIA • G. STANLEY WILSON • ARCHITECT • A.I.A. • JANUARY 15 1938

Foundations are now in for Palm Springs' new high school, under construction now on a 20-acre tract of land on Ramon Road east of the Field Club. The structure, which will cost somewhat over $100,000, will be completed before the school term opens next September.

Later, when more funds are available, an auditorium will be built in the back part of the patio, thus connecting the two units shown in the above picture. Other units will also be added, including a machine shop.

Architect G. Stanley Wilson

put the palm trees in the picture, but there is no money available to purchase the trees. The school board, consisting of President Raymond Cree and John W. Williams, Palm Springs members, and Vincent Stone and Robina Hemmerling of Banning, and Hazel Koger of Cabazon, will be glad to receive donations of trees, or money.

Suggest Shrine Ceremonial Here in April

A Shriner's Ceremonial at the Palm Springs Field Club next April, was discussed at the Palm Springs Masonic Luncheon Club in Carl's Restaurant, Tuesday noon.

Potentate Joseph H. Pengilly of Al Malaikah Temple, Los Angeles, was the speaker at the meeting, and he stated that the ceremonial here in the spring would be a fine thing to do and he believed could be arranged. Two thousand or more Nobles would gather here for the ceremonial.

"At least once in his life-time every Noble is required to make the pilgrimage to Mecca, and you have Mecca here just a few miles beyond Indio." The town of Mecca lies about 15 miles east of Indio in the Coachella Valley, and the Shriners would probably trek across the desert sands to that place either before or following the Palm Springs ceremonial. Mecca would be very much alive for a day, at least.

Potentate Pengilly toured the village with a group of local Shriners and inspected the Field Club, which, he said, would be ideal for the presentation of such a ceremonial. It is believed there are about 50 Shriners living in Palm Springs now.

The Masonic Luncheon Club will do what it can to secure the ceremonial for Palm Springs. As the crowd will be large, Palm Springs and surrounding communities will be able to house the Shriners and their wives late in the spring.

Attendance at the club meetings, held every other Tuesday noon, is increasing. The club Tuesday decided to ask hotels and apartment houses to put up cards notifying their guests of the meeting dates. The cards will be furnished by the club.

Incorporation To Be Presented To Supervisors Next Monday

The incorporation committee expects to present the Palm Springs petition to the county board of supervisors next Monday, and if all proceedings go through as anticipated, the incorporation election can be held on Monday, April 11, which is the regular municipal election date for all sixth class cities of California, was the report Attorney Guy Pinney made to the incorporation committee yesterday afternoon in the school auditorium.

Following is the chronological order in which incorporation proceedings will take place, he said:

January 24—Present petition to board of supervisors. The board will refer the petition to the county clerk to check all signatures. This will probably require the services of a dozen

Pickpocket Picks $150 from Pocket Of Local Man

A pickpocket extracted a wallet containing $150 from the pocket of Jack Price last Friday. Mr. Price, who resides on the McKinney property on South Palm Canyon Drive, believes his pocket was picked while he was in a crowd in the postoffice.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Pryon, owners of the Tulare Hotel, this week dropped in to see Carl Barkow.

President's Birthday Ball, Racquet Club

Palm Springs will again cooperate with the rest of the nation in combating infantile paralysis and will have a huge birthday ball for President Roosevelt at the Racquet Club, Saturday evening, January 29.

Frank V. Shannon, a good Republican, has again consented to accept the chairmanship of the affair. "This isn't a Democratic party love-fest," he said. "It's an affair to which every American should contribute in order to raise money to exterminate infantile paralysis from this country."

Seventy per cent of the net proceeds will go to the Friendly Aid Committee of the local Chamber of Commerce for local work. The balance of the net profits go to the national fund to combat infantile paralysis.

Tickets for the ball will soon be on sale at $3.00 per person. An excellent orchestra will provide the music for the dance. The Friendly Aid Committee has charge of the ticket sales.

Music for the occasion will be furnished by the Racquet Club.

Tickets for the dinner dance will be $5.00 per person, and reservations are limited to 200. Reservations should be made as soon as possible with the Racquet Club or Victor Claridge.

A CORRECTION

It has been called to our attention that a recent article appearing in The Desert Sun could be construed as detrimental to Mr. Edwin Tierney. The article pertained to a therapeutic tuberculosis machine which another Palm Springs man had caused to be taken from Mr. Tierney's home. The Tierneys were out of town, so he secured the assistance of the constable to take the machine from the Tierney residence.

The article as it appeared in this newspaper stated the machine was then "reloaned" to Mr. Tierney, but what the reporter intended to say was that it was "released" to him, who in turn loaned it to the other man, which naturally injected an unintended meaning into the article.

Whether it was the fault of the reporter, linotype operator, or proofreader, we cannot now ascertain, but this newspaper regrets deeply that the error occurred, for we would do nothing to stigmatize Mr. Tierney's good name, and therefore now offer our apology.

It is the policy of The Desert Sun never to intentionally malign anyone, and when our attention is called to any error we are always glad to correct the same.

Vines and Perry To Battle Here For World's Professional Tennis Championship

Pitting two of the world's greatest stylists in tennis against each other in a bitter feud for the world's professional championship, Ellsworth Vines of California, reigning titleholder, on Sunday, February 6, will wield the famous cannonball service and stinging drives that have carried him to the top, in a match against the resourceful and colorful Englishman, Fred Perry, erstwhile world's amateur champion for three straight years. The two famous stars of the court will face each other at 2:00 p. m. on the lightning-fast court at the Racquet Club. Preliminary matches begin at one o'clock.

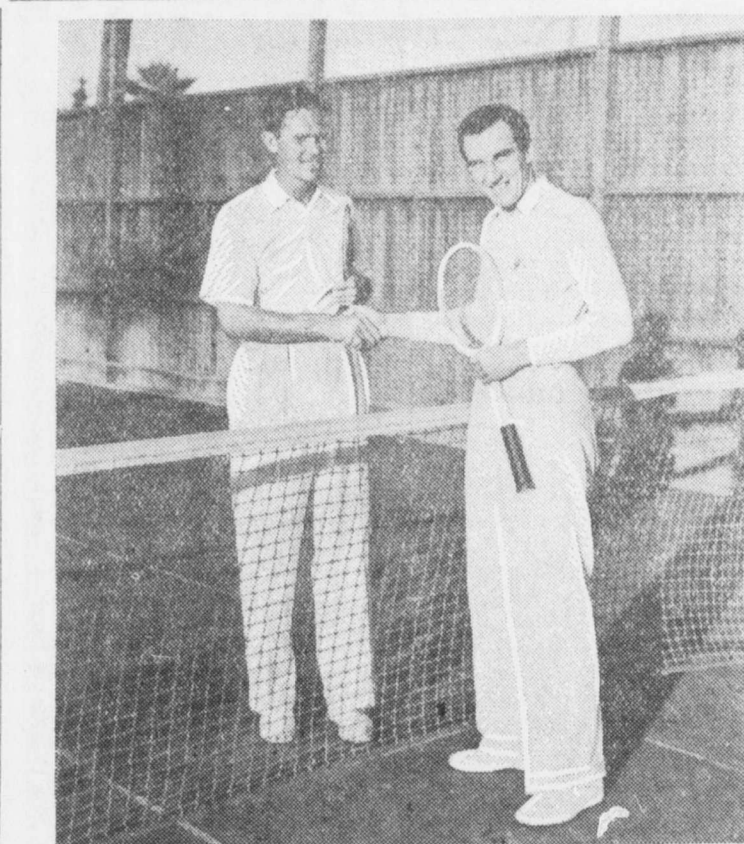

While the classic rivalry between Vines and Perry, who waged a sizzling fight to a standstill last season, tops the February 6 matches, a brilliant program of tennis is on tap for local fandom. Walter Senior, second only to Donald Budge among Northern California's amateurs last season, turned professional especially to join this tour and he will bank on his traditional California hard-hitting game against the fighting Berkeley Bell, the "Tumbling Texan," in the opening singles duel.

The doubles will find the California pair, Vines and Senior, teaming up against Perry and Bell in what looms as another scintillating battle. Bell is regarded as one of the greatest "natural" doubles players produced in the country, with an amazing volley and a fighting temperament that makes him an ideal doubles partner for the great English champion.

Vines In Best Condition

Vines, admittedly in the best physical condition he has ever enjoyed, is placing his reputation on the block in a "show-down" fight with his deadliest rival, Perry. The Englishman has more wins to his credit over Vines than any other individual in tennis and Perry hopes to displace him as king of the professional before the season is over.

But Vines is confident that he can wield the whip hand over his challenger. He has been professional champion since he was lured into the play-for-pay ranks in 1934, and before that was undisputed amateur champion of the globe with victories over every outstanding player to his credit. Vines signed up for this tour under Manager Jack Harris knowing full well that the winner will get the opportunity of upholding the reputation of the "post graduate pros" against an outstanding amateur champion who may succumb to the jingle of gold next season. The loser of the tour must perform step out of the picture.

Vines is conceded to have the most severe, aggressive game in tennis.

Service aces issue from his racket with amazing regularity, his forehand is the hardest hit in the game today. Timing is his great secret and when his stinging drives find their way down the side inches from the line, the 26-year old Californian is considered well-nigh unbeatable.

Perry Great Player

In the face of repeated cannonball barrages and staccato volleys from his opponent, Perry proves himself the great player that he is—perhaps one of the greatest court coverers the game has ever known. With the same brilliance that made him undisputed world's amateur champion for three years before he turned pro, the English Davis Cup ace achieves remarkable "gets" and turns them into forcing shots on his own account, with eye-opening dexterity.

Perry reveals that the secret of his shot-making, achieved from difficult angles and under terrific pressure, is in the strength of his super-strong right wrist, which was developed at an early age while he was winning the world's table tennis crown. His own service compares with the most powerful, and the terrific pace the two rivals set is attested by the fact that a racket stringing never lasts more than one match, and sometimes two rackets are used in a single battle.

The English star supplanted Vines as amateur kingpin when the Californian turned pro to tour with Tilden. Perry is the only player in history to hold the national championships of England, United States, Australia and France in the same year, and in one season the remarkable ace held the national singles championships of seven different countries!

Vines became the first player in history to win Wimbledon the first crack at the classic world's championship, when he triumphed in the 1932 tournament. Playing in every major tournament in both England and America that year, the sensational Californian did not drop a solitary match in singles—an all-time record that even Bill Tilden could not approach in his hey-day.

Color is expected to abound in the preliminary match between the elongated Senior and stubby Bell. Senior is a natural clown of the court and frequently indulges in added histrionics over shots that provokes hearty laughter from the gallery. Bell earned his nickname of "Tumbling Texan" from his habit of taking "headers" in frantic scrambles to retrieve the ball. But both are capable of outstanding tennis in their own right with high national ranking during their amateur days.

Promoter Jack Harris announced that Vines and Perry will award to the outstanding junior tennis star of this district, a year's playing membership in the leading local club as a reward of merit. Vines recalls when assistance given him as a struggling junior aided him greatly in scaling the championship heights and is an ardent booster for junior tennis.

Berkeley Bell

Scion of the early Texas rangers, Berkeley Bell is known as one of the most tenacious players in tennis with a never-give-up attitude that more than once has pulled his match out of the fire. But as a member of the Ellsworth Vines-Fred Perry entourage, he has earned the name of the "Tumbling Texan", for in his anxiety to retrieve even the most difficult shots, Bell often takes a "header" into the front row of the gallery. They play here February 6th.

Bell, lured out of the ranks of amateur players by Vines two years ago, stood high in the first ten of national amateur stars when a simon pure. As a doubles player, partnered with Perry against Ellsworth Vines and Walter Senior, the "Tumbling Texan" has hit his stride and the many dazzling rallies that feature this doubles battle as a supporting feature of the Vines-Perry singles feud, have brought fans to their feet time and again.

Essentially a volley artist, Bell attacks the net with a theory that the best defense is a good offense. A neat placement scored in doubles gives him more satisfaction than a service ace does Vines.

The colorful Texan has been a bombastic figure of the courts since he came out of the University of Texas in 1928 to make a mark for himself in intercollegiate competition. Not many know that partnered with Wilmer Allison, Bell won eight tournaments in a row in doubles. Bell remained in school but Allison went on to become world's doubles champion with Johnny Van Ryn.

One of the most satisfying wins that Bell had the following year was in the national doubles championship when he teamed with Lewis White, also of Texas, and defeated Allison and Van Ryn. The following year Bell, too, was named on the Davis Cup squad. Bell has won the national intercollegiate championship in both singles and doubles, and such classic eastern grass court events as Seabright, Nassau and Newport.

Bell's most thrilling singles victory, he calls the triumph over Jack Tilden of California in the final round of the Longwood Bowl tournament when Bell was trailing two sets to one, and 9-8 in the fourth set. Tilden had five match points on the crucial game, but the fighting Texan doggedly turned each one back and won the game, then squared the set, then the match and finally won the fifth set, 6-2, in a blaze of fireworks. It was this same Tilden, incidentally, who gave Vines his last defeat as an amateur.

Bell carries his old fighting spirit into professional tennis, where his whirlwind style of play makes him a real crowd pleaser and a continual source of annoyance to opponents. His "dying breath" often finds him tumbling into the laps of his spectators, so much speed does he generate in a desperate effort to retrieve the ball but Bill's antics are thoroughly appreciated by his victims.

Few players like to win more than Bell and his greatest joy as a professional player, when he left the amateur ranks in 1936, came when he teamed with Vines to hand George Lott and Lester Stoefer defeats in their tour of that year. Bell is a singles star in his own right, as his record in the First Ten of the country proves, and his singles feud with Walter Senior, the slim San Franciscan is a highlight of the current tour.

Walter Senior

Walter Senior, strapping 6-foot 2-inch former University of California tennis and track ace, is the newest amateur star of the coast to toss his medals and cups into the discard in favor of the clink of cold, hard cash in return for his prowess with the racket.

The bronzed husky from the Golden State, second only to Donald Budge, the world's No. 1 amateur player, in his home sector, was signed to a professional contract by Jack Harris.

Senior was just coming into his own in championship tennis when he renounced his amateur standing. A traditional California hard-hitter, his blazing forehand shots rival the severity of Budge's, his first service is as hard as any in the game, and his net game has more than once turned the tide of battle in his favor. On top of that he is what is known as a "natural" with the crowd, his antics on the court when either making or missing a shot bringing forth a spontaneous laugh.

The San Francisco product, who learned the fine points of the game on the courts that produced Maurice McLoughlin and Bill Johnston, cleaned up in a mid-western amateur campaign last summer, scoring victories in no less than seven tournaments and winding up by blazing his way to victory in the Canadian national championship.

Senior collected titles in the Western championships, the Michigan State championships, Wisconsin State championships, Illinois State championships, as well as in doubles in the Ohio state, New England and Florida championships. Among his victims was Wilmer Allison, former national champion and "Davis Cup" stronghold.

Until he elected to cast his lot with the play-for-pay boys, Senior had been assured of a rapid rise in the First Ten of the nation. In the Vines-Perry tour, Senior is starting a private feud of his own with Berkeley Bell, the sensational "Tumbling Texan" who is the fourth member of Jack Harris' trans-continental troupe. He also teams up with Vines in doubles against Perry and Bell.

Senior first broke into athletic fame while attending Fresno State College before transferring to the University of California. He ran a lap on the Fresno quartet that set a new national college four-man mile relay in the famed Fresno Relays, and was capable of tearing off a lap in considerably under 50 seconds.

Tennis has always been his best love in athletics, however, a year ago, playing in only a few Eastern tournaments, he gained No. 12 in national ranking and in Northern California was second only to Budge himself. The late 1932 season found him hitting his best stride, and with the American crop of amateur talent at a low ebb except for Champion Budge, Harris persuaded Senior to join the professionals.

Just as players like Les Stoefer, Bruce Barnes, Berkeley Bell and a few others have improved by leaps and bounds under the tremendous strain of top-notch tennis required in professional competition, Senior may prove one of the best in the game eventually, according to Vines.

Attorney and Mrs. Gregory Cruetz and four children of Los Angeles have leased a home in Las Palmas Estates for the balance of the season. Mr. Cruetz is a prominent attorney. He and Bill Cross of the Hicks Real Estate agency were classmates in the U. S. C. law school, and naturally Mr. Cross leased the property to Mr. Cruetz. Incidentally, "Cruetz" is the German word meaning "cross."

"Hippo"

That squat, sad-eyed little white dog who has amused us for the past eight years is dead. He was killed by a murderous pack of reservation mongrels. He was having a grand time nipping at their heels and annoying them with his wheezy bark when they suddenly turned on him. The deadly attack was too much for "Hippo"—that was his name—and he went down in the reservation dust for the final count.

So busy are we with our own affairs many of us have failed to note the disappearance of "Hippo." Most of us knew him. He was more than just another dog; he was a village personality. The "dogs and skates not allowed" warning in the postoffice was inoperative as far as he was concerned.

No particular canine comeliness could he claim. In appearance "Hippo" was pathetically nondescript—the offspring of a black-and-white terrier and an itinerant dachshund. His stumpy legs curved strangely, like a wishbone, from his body. His tail was disproportionately long but had a dignified wave as he walked.

If his body was small and poorly fashioned, "Hippo" had the heart of a St. Bernard. He could wag a sincere hello with that tail of his or a lot of genuine expression into those sorrowful brown eyes.

Those few people who took care of "Hippo" and loved him best are missing the loyal, devoted little fellow. To the rest of us his passing is just another one of those things. There is no especial moral to his story—no especial reason to regret his death. Still I know we do. He was such an under-sized, friendly sort of a mutt. We couldn't help but like him.

Progress With Sound Effects

In those good old days when Palm Springs was more sandy and less social, villagers managed to exist just as nicely although living at a slower pace than now. Today we seem to have reached the conclusion that progress is speed and that to progress we have to travel fast. But this is all wrong. Progress is development. Development is gradual growth in any man's dictionary. Why can't we slow up awhile?

"Back to the siesta hour" movements have been started periodically and failed periodically. However much or little we have to do we like to do in a hurry. Everybody begins to fidget when a luncheon club speaker runs past his deadline. What in the world have we to be so unreasonably busy about right now, anyway?

Then, too, we're not only rushing around progressing, but also we're evidently trying to do it as noisily as possible. There was a time when only the unmelodic bray of a desert jackass broke the stillness of a desert night. Or, on some clear evenings, villagers could hear the roar of Tahquitz Creek swirling over the canyon boulders.

People used to come to the desert to worship its silence. Long miles of sand stretching between still, towering mountain ranges. Cool moonlight. Warm sunshine. Magnificent dawns and sunsets. The desert has always been a region of vast silences—that is, until we began to be noisy about our progressing.

Our current combination of sound-honking horns, squealing tires, nickel-in-the-slot phonographs, booming car radios, rumbling trucks, cocktail bar pianists and singers—does not belong on this desert and never did. The village's jarry cacaphony is as out of place in the desert as a swing quartet in a cathedral. Until we learn to take things a bit more leisurely and much less blatantly, we are missing the best the desert has to give.

The Desert

All of this talk about noise and progress arose out of a conversation with one man who has come to love the desert and who lives miles away from highway and town. He said he had been on the desert for five years, and during that time it had taught him that nothing of permanent value ever came about by forcing or pushing through a situation. Let the desert take care of you. There is something that appeals in his idea. It makes one wonder if perhaps we wouldn't be better off accepting our living from the desert instead of extracting it.

Stricter Ban Is Sought on Gambling Clubs

Re-opening of any gambling establishment which had been raided by officers would be made a misdemeanor under an ordinance to be drafted by Dist. Atty. Redwine and admittedly aimed at the swanky Dunes Club near Palm Springs which state and county officers recently raided.

The county prosecutor notified the board of supervisors at Riverside Monday that the Dunes Club is functioning again and that law enforcement officers are helpless against such institutions under existing laws.

Eight asserted gambling game dealers arrested at the Dunes will appear in justice court in Banning February 14.

By unanimous action of the board Redwine was instructed to draw up the ordinance, which will give added authority to both the sheriff's and district attorney's staff in permanently closing buildings once determined to be housing gambling operations.

The ordinance will declare such buildings as public nuisances and permit county authorities to have full power of closing them, the district attorney told the supervisors.

"I understand that the place near Palm Springs that was recently raided, with considerable equipment confiscated, is again functioning," Redwine told the supervisors. He referred to the Dunes club, near the desert resort. Under the proposed ordinance, re-opening of the building would become in itself a misdemeanor and subject to fine, imprisonment or both.

Chairman W. C. Moore instigated the authorization of Redwine to draw up the county law and he asked Redwine whether such an ordinance would be legal and proper.

"I would say that such a law would substantially strengthen the state laws, and would be wholly legal," he advised.

He advised the supervisors that he would complete the ordinance in one week's time for presentation for their approval next Monday.

Should the law be designated as an emergency ordinance, it will go into immediate effect. Otherwise, a 30-day period will be required before it can be enforced.

Aqueduct Progress Report From L. A. Headquarters

Establishing the best monthly progress for 1937, tunnel crews in the San Jacinto tunnel excavated a total of 1181 feet of main tunnel during the month of December. The average progress amounted to 5.9 feet per shift, according to the Aqueduct News.

Cabazon crews again turned in an excellent progress report by driving 859 feet during the month. This amounted to better than 28 feet per day for the thirty working days of the period, excavation having been suspended on Christmas Day.

In spite of the heavy water flow which continued in Potrero during the month, the crews working in that heading excavated a total of 308 feet of main tunnel. The average water flow from the west portal of the tunnel amounted to 24,800 gallons per minute. As previously reported, the excavation of the Lawrence adit was completed during December. Work has been continued on equipment installations in the station at the foot of the adit, and by January 3 both legs of the wye to the main tunnel line had been excavated.

In addition to excavation, excellent progress is being made in placing concrete lining in both the Potrero and Cabazon legs of the tunnel. During December a total of 1020 feet of arch was placed, of which 628 feet was in Cabazon and 392 feet in Potrero. By January 1, 138, approximately 40 per cent of the San Jacinto tunnel lining had been placed. This totaled 27,312 feet of arch and 29,632 feet of invert.

Cabazon lining is now under way in that part of the main tunnel. All excavation traffic is routed through the pioneer so that the lining work can proceed without interruption.

On the Potrero side, recent lining operations have been conducted between the shaft and the first wye leading into the pioneer tunnel. Invert, with a high curb, was placed first, traffic being carried over a bridge built above the floor of the tunnel. By the use of the high curb, and special forms, arch lining is now being placed in this section, and at the same time tunnel excavation traffic is able to operate between the shaft and the face. The completed invert carries water flowing from the main tunnel and pioneer headings.

When this section totaling 3040 feet is completed, lining will be started in

Tierney Leases Five Offices in Carnell Bldg.

It is reported that Edwin Tierney has leased five offices in the Carnell building where he will demonstrate the famous "Med-Air" machines which he designed, and which are being manufactured for him. The machines are used for the treatment of asthma, tuberculosis, bronchitis, and all sorts of respiratory disorders, including sinus affections and common colds.

Mr. Tierney and his staff will use one of the offices as a reception room, and the other four for treatment rooms.

Marvelous results have been accomplished by treatment with the machines in Europe, chiefly in France, Italy, and Germany, according to national magazine articles.

Mr. Tierney has had several of these machines in Palm Springs the past two seasons and has demonstrated them in local homes with remarkable success. His treatments are given in cooperation and under the supervision of the patient's physician.

The Nev-Cal. Electric Corporation powered into first position by defeating the Bank of America 3 straight games and featuring a high 3-game series of 2370 and a high single game of 843. Herman Iselin was the bright light with his high series of 582 for an average of 194. His bowling was faultless throughout the match and was partially responsible for the Electric Corporation victory. We hope he can continue his fast pace. The Coca Cola and Smoke Tree Ranch Regulars tied for 2nd place by defeating El Paseo Building Five and Safeway Stores respectively. Mart Pearson of the Coca-Cola team had a high single game of 231 but faulted on his last game for high honors.

The newly organized Merchants Bowling league promises to be the best ever held at the Academy alleys. The leagues heretofore have been run on a handicap basis, but this style seems to please all contestants.

Puzzle: What happened to Al Gardiner when he bowled 81, also Bob Faubion with his husky 97?

35 BOY SCOUTS TO VISIT VILLAGE SUNDAY

A group of 35 Boy Scouts and 15 Scout leaders from all over Riverside county will visit the village Sunday on an outing that is a reward to the 35 boys for outstanding active service in getting new members.

According to a letter from Scout Executive John H. Leecing, to Frank Shannon, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, "these young men have been the means of recruiting some 300 new Scouts."

The Rev. John Robertson Macartney will conduct a special service for the group in the school auditorium at 9:30 next Sunday morning. The public is cordially invited to attend these services. The Scouts will enjoy luncheon at Carl's Restaurant in the Plaza.

FIRE DAMAGES NEW HOUSE

Fire Wednesday afternoon damaged an unfinished house on Indian avenue, near the Desert Retreat, to the extent of $300. The house was under construction and painters were at work when the fire started. The fire department was called and quickly extinguished the blaze.

George Foldes and family of the Palm Springs Hotel this week purchased two lots in Palm Highlands. They plan to build on the property.

OUR LAND OF "FREE SPEECH"

Because free speech is censored or forbidden in Germany, the Nazi government probably thought it was taboo in the United States. Not so, however. The average citizen over here is still permitted to discuss the weather and some other topics. The average American citizen may even praise or criticize Hitler without fear of going to the county prison camp which occupies a place in the dry desert air of San Geronio Pass.

In polite but firm language Secretary of State Hull rejected a protest from German Ambassador Hans Dieckhoff over an anti-Nazi speech made in New York by William E. Dodd, former Ambassador to Berlin. Hull pointed out that Dodd is an American citizen entitled to voice his private views.

Dieckhoff hastened to the department shortly after it opened for the day. He carried excerpts of Dodd's remarks in which the former diplomat charged that the Nazi rule of Adolf Hitler is "more absolute than any medieval emperor of Germany" and that he "has killed as many personal opponents in five years as Charles II executed in twenty."

Hull declined to cite the exact passages which aroused Dieckhoff but said he reminded the German envoy that the right of free speech is observed in this country, that Dodd is now a private citizen, and that the government does not have the legal or constitutional power to control or censor remarks of individual citizens.

THE COW DEFINED

There is a report of a Hollywood movie queen who never saw a cow. She wondered where the milk came from which was seen in bottles on the back porch every morning.

One writer has been investigating the identity of cows, and writes as follows:

"The cow is a female quadruped with an alto voice and a countenance in which there is no guile. She collaborates with the pump in the production of a liquid called milk, provides a filler for hash, and at best is skinned by those she has benefited, as mortals commonly are.

"The young cow is called a calf, and is used in the manufacturing of a chicken salad.

"A cow's tail is mounted aft and has a universal joint. It is used to disturb marauding flies, and the tassel on the end has a unique educational value. Persons who milk cows and come often in contact with the tassel have vocabularies of peculiar and impressive force.

"The cow has two stomachs. The one on the ground floor is used as a warehouse and has no other function. When this one is filled, the cow returns to a quiet place, where her ill manners will occasion no comment, and devotes herself to belching.

"The raw material thus conveyed for the second time to the interior of the face is pulverized and delivered to the auxiliary stomach where it is converted into cow.

"The cow has no upper plate. All of her teeth are parked in the lower part of her face. This arrangement was perfected by an efficiency expert, to keep her from gumming things up. As a result, she bites up and gums down.

"The male cow is called a bull, and is lassoed along the Colorado, fought south of the Rio Grande, and shot in the vicinity of the Potomac.

"A slice of cow is worth eight cents in the cow, 14 cents in the hands of the packers, and $2.40 in a restaurant that specializes in atmosphere.

AN OCEAN SHRINE

Fourteen mines northwest of Pago Pago Harbor, vaguely identified in a wilderness of waters, a few restless waves mark the spot where the first air conquerors of the Pacific paid the price of sacrifice for their indomitable determination to bring earth's mightiest ocean to subjection for the use of man.

Though no monument of stone or bronze can ever be raised over the grave where these pioneers laid down their lives, the place where the few poor remnants of their last flight were gathered from the waves by a United States station ship will be remembered by generations yet unborn, and be honored as a national shrine by the thousands who in the years to come will be using the Pacific airways as an everyday means of travel.

The island of Tutuila, with its richly endowed tropical harbor, is destined to become the central depot of the South Pacific air lines. Some day, and the children of today may live to see it, Pago Pago on account of its geographical position will see planes starting and leaving for many ports, west to Fiji and Australia, south to New Zealand,

Late Version of the Peg Leg Gold Mine, Unmarked Monument of the Desert

Reported finding of the "lost" Peg Leg Smith gold mine by two prospectors in Borego Valley, south of Palm Springs, brings renewed interest in the tale of the Peg Leg Smith mine. There is historical and mythical environment about this mine, from which rich gold was taken by Peg Leg Smith.

In an early day Peg Leg Smith appeared occasionally in San Bernardino, bearing rich gold ore. Rather suddenly Peg Leg died in San Bernardino. He is reported to have told his landlady there, as death was about to end his career, that "the smoke of the trains at Yuma, 25 miles away, can be seen from my gold mine." Since the so-called mine was not legally located Peg Leg could not describe, accurately, its location, up the Colorado river 25 miles from Yuma.

Having learned some years ago about Peg Leg's mine, and being interested in late reports of its rediscovery, Mr. and Mrs. John Brinton of Banning visited Yuma and environs last Sunday.

The story of Peg Leg goes like this: He was a prospector of the old school,

He found rich deposits of placer gold in a wash 25 miles north of Yuma. There were no "diggings," since the ore was in abundance on the surface. After Peg Leg died his nephew came to the Yuma locality, and his wife and their two children lived on a ranch there which they named the 4-S (4-Smith) place. By that time Peg Leg's supply of gold was exhausted. Peg Leg's ore had the distinction of being black on one side. There was none other like it in the Yuma region. Incidentally, Mr. Brinton brought back gold, copper, silver and lead specimens.

In the vicinity of the present exhausted Peg Leg mine, near Yuma, there lives Tony Mandeville and his family. They knew Peg Leg Smith's nephew. Mandeville and Brinton talked over the Peg Leg stories. Mandeville settled in the Yuma region in 1872. He has since resided there. He says there is no Peg Leg ore. The mystery of the "lost mine" naturally stirs the imagination. Mandeville says the mine, which was merely a very rich surface deposit, is no more.

north to California via Honolulu, possibly east to Peru and South America.

And as the planes in and out of Pago Pago pass over the spot where once a crew of pioneers was lost in the waters of the Pacific the steward on the air liner will point out this ocean shrine to the passengers aboard and call for a tribute, perhaps the strewing of flowers upon the waves, to the air pilot who planned the first commercial air routes across the wide Pacific, Capt. Edwin C. Musick.

What he accomplished will keep his memory alive, though his monument is buried 1000 fathoms deep under the waves of the Pacific Ocean. For among the air pioneers who gave their lives to advance the science of aviation none left a more permanent mark on the development of sea lanes than this great constructive aviator.—Los Angeles Times.

HITS AND MISSES

By HARVEY JOHNSON

Taxes — always — visible and invisible; painful and painless. Every family in our town, if called upon today to pay its share of the federal government's debt, would owe $1,180. Ten years ago the debt per family was $574; which shows we are progressing backwards.

The $1,180 represents a year's earnings for the average American family. It represents an obligation which must be met some day. It means that the younger generation, along with meeting city, county and state indebtedness incurred by their parents must also shoulder a staggering federal burden.

There is one way out. That is by inflation, and presumably inflation will become a fact. When it comes it may require a $5 bill to buy a loaf of bread. Everybody will have so much money that they'll be poorer than ever.

Inflation helped to wreck Germany and it wouldn't do the U. S. A. any good in the long run.

Two Wrecks Near Garnet Bring Injuries

Wet pavement on U. S. Highway 99, a few hundred yards west of Garnet, Saturday afternoon imperiled the lives of six young people in one accident and brought a quick end to the trip of two others in a car in another accident. The accidents happened within an hour and charges were filed against both drivers.

The stretch of road on which the automobiles skidded is straight and level. Both cars were believed by officers to have been traveling at a high rate of speed, and both overturned. Occupants were treated at Banning for injuries.

William Wayne Smith, 25, driver in the first accident at 1 p. m., was taken to the Banning hospital with a compound fracture of his right leg. He suffered concussion of the brain, but regained consciousness. Mrs. Gerry Smith, 27, who was with him, received a fractured jaw and possible other injuries.

Only minor injuries were suffered by the six people who were riding in a modern type coupe with space for passengers behind the regular seat, despite the fact it rolled over three times after going out of control on the slick pavement.

Theodore Dillard, 25, of Banning received cuts and bruises. Charges of alleged reckless driving were made against him. Miss Jannie Von Moore, 17, of Los Angeles, was badly shaken up and suffered a possible fractured elbow. Others in the car, all of Los Angeles, were Eddie Marcus, 22; Olive Madison, 16; George Umpshire, 17 and Jannie Jordan, 18.

Capt. J. Raymond King and Officers Doyle Jessup and Gene Henderson of the California Highway patrol investigated.

Walter Hathaway, pioneer inhabitant of this section and first mayor of Banning, passed away at his home at the pass city Wednesday at the age of 77.

Edward Waskow, manager of the Desert Furniture Co., Inc., had a narrow escape from death on January 12, when a truck crashed into his car on the highway 10 miles north of Bakersfield, and completely wrecked his car.

Mr. Waskow suffered several broken ribs and an injured kidney. He was rushed to the Bakersfield hospital, where he was confined until the early part of this week, but has now resumed his work at his furniture store here.

The accident occurred during a thick "pea-soup" fog, and visibility was at a minimum. The truck which hit Mr. Waskow's car was on the wrong side of the road, passing another truck.

Governor Merriam Urges Prison For Degenerates

A separate prison for sex offenders is recommended by Gov. Frank F. Merriam following a report by the state board of prison terms and paroles.

Pointing out 979 such offenders are in California prisons, the majority convicted of crimes against children, the Governor urged a separate building for them.

"I believe," the governor said, "at the earliest opportunity a building should be erected to house this class of criminal. I have some hopes that in connection with the new Southern California prison we may provide a separate structure, a separate yard and a separate industrial plant for them."

"Prison matters are one thing and psychopathic matters are another. Treatment of psychopathic cases of this type is different than that given in our hospitals, necessitating a separate and distinct section of a prison where proper treatment may be administered."

In its report, the board declared most of these offenders are incurable mental cases and, while not necessarily insane, "they should never be released upon society."

An amendment to the penal code by the last legislature fixing life imprisonment as the maximum sentence for offenses against children and a recent ruling of the attorney-general holding it did not have to fix a definite term in these cases, the board declared, gave it the power to act.

Members announced effective immediately its policy would be not to fix a definite term in cases of sex offenses against children.

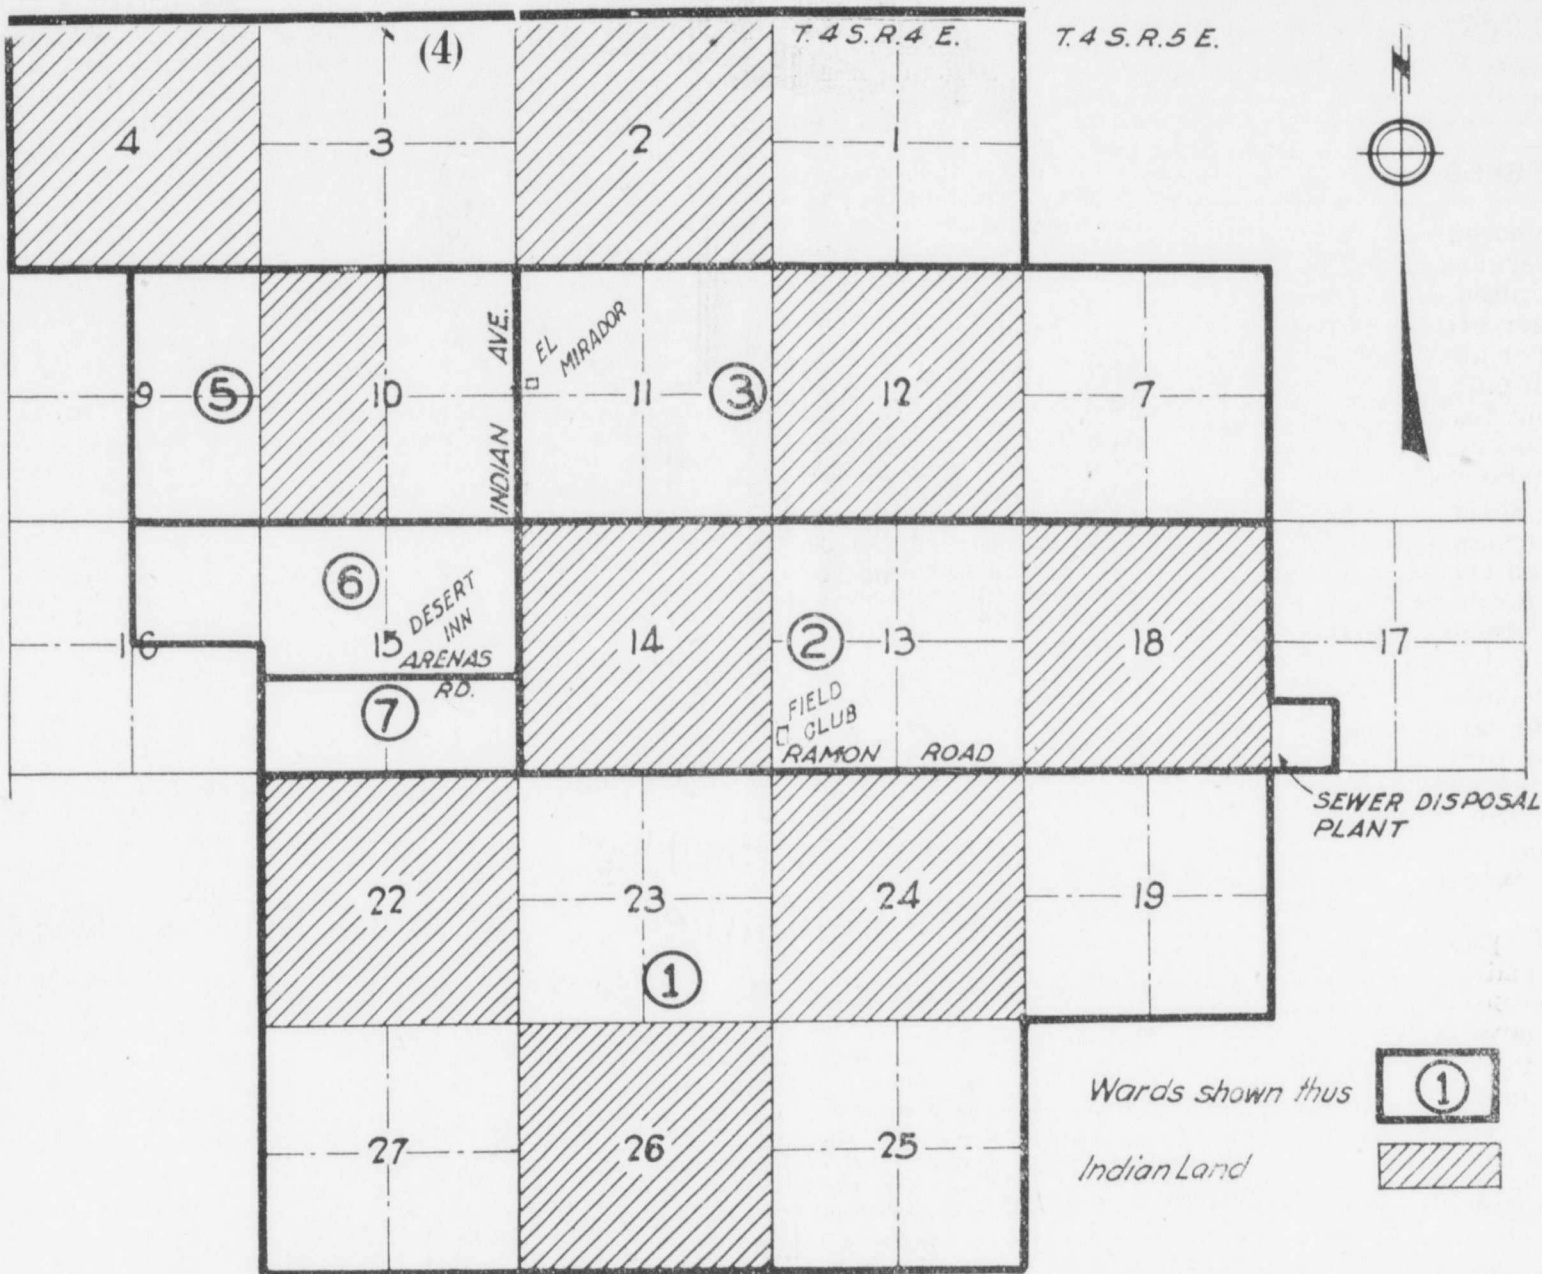

"This policy," the report read, "will cause all such offenders to serve the maximum of their sentences, and will give the public the greatest measure of protection within the power of the board."

In exceptional cases, it was pointed out, where the maximum sentence would not be justified, the board may remedy any apparent injustice through parole, granted after thorough medical and psychiatric examination, and at the same time, retain control over the paroled prisoner with authority to return him to prison immediately upon the slightest evidence of misconduct.

Colegate Returns To Legal Practice Here

Attorney Roy Colegate, who was severely injured in an automobile wreck some months ago, has returned to Palm Springs, and is maintaining his office in his apartment on the Desert Inn grounds, where he can now meet his clients. He has been confined in the Upland hospital since his injury, but is now able to walk a little. Mr. Colegate represents the Riverside law firm of Sarau & Thompson in Palm Springs, who have their office in the Palm Springs Theatre building.

Approved Map of Palm Springs City and Incorporation Petition To Be Presented to County Supervisors Monday

This map shows the area proposed to be incorporated as the City of Palm Springs and the boundaries of the seven wards. The area comprises 19 square miles, each square shown in the map being a section of land (a square mile). Shaded sections are Indian lands, section 14 being the thickly populated part of the reservation. The new airport is to take up the southwestern half of section 18 and the new state highway will run diagonally through that section, and through sections 19, 7, 12, 11, 2, 3, and 4, connecting in section 4 with the present highway near the Chino Creek bridge. Araby and Smoke Tree Ranch are in section 25, Tahquitz Desert Estates in 27, the Racquet Club in 3, the present airport in the northeastern part of 14, the high school to be built in 13 just east of the Field Club. Mark these places in on your map and you can ascertain in which ward you live.

To Discuss Fire Protection For Indian Reservation At Meeting Monday

H. H. Quackenbush, federal officer in charge of the Agua Caliente reservation, has called a meeting for next Monday evening of all persons who live on the reservation. The meeting is to be held Monday at the school auditorium is the first move in an effort to provide adequate fire protection for property on the local Indian reservation.

The need for such protection has been brought forcibly to the attention of the inhabitants on the reservation and villagers alike by two recent fires on the reservation.

Both of these fires completely destroyed the homes involved as well as all of the personal belongings of the occupants, and seriously threatened many nearby domiciles. In each case, because of a total lack of equipment and of an organized fire fighting squad the fires consumed the residences without resistance.

While the well-equipped Palm Springs fire department stood ready to aid in these emergencies, it was unable to do so because of insurance provisions and the regulations laid down by the Board of Fire Underwriters.

The meeting called by Quackenbush for Monday night is for the purpose of discussing ways and means of equipping residents on Indian lands with proper fire fighting apparatus. The first move will be to organize a volunteer fire department, which will immediately elect officers and carry on plans for getting proper equipment.

One of the ways in which the equipment may be purchased is by charging a small amount monthly to each household on the reservation for fire protection. Another is by means of subscription. A representative of labor union men who reside on the reservation reported to Quackenbush Tuesday morning that the union men had subscribed $350 up to that time for fire equipment.

Quackenbush pointed out that with a good flow of water in the Tahquitz irrigation ditch, probably the only equipment needed to give the larger part of the reservation an adequate fire protection would be a pumper and plenty of hose.

Chemical rigs are of no value in fighting fires on the reservation, he said, because their effect is virtually nil in combating blazes in the open air.

Insofar as water pressure is concerned, the reservation is badly handicapped. With the exception of one main put in this season on the north line of section 14 under supervision of Quackenbush, the mains are all only one inch or three-quarter inch. The new one is a four-inch main and can be successfully utilized for fire fighting.

The others, however, are useless, as was proved at the fire which last week destroyed an attractive house on the reservation. Only a small stream of water was obtained from the mains and the only thing it was useful for was to douse neighboring houses and protect them from the flames. Had there been much wind that evening, many nearby buildings would have been seriously threatened, Quackenbush said. As it was, the unorganized fire fighters had their hands full saving the residence next door.

American Legion Notes

The public is invited to a social evening with Legionnaires and their wives at Jack's Barn, Monday evening, January 24.

The Legion meets the second and fourth Monday evening of each month at Jack's Barn, and decided to have open house next Monday night for all those who desire to attend, whether Legionnaires or not. There will be entertainment, refreshments and dancing.

The Legion is planning a number of interesting events for the balance of the season, among them a series of softball games. Pat White of the Village Pharmacy is head of the committee organizing men's and women's teams, and as soon as the teams are ready they will issue challenges to all comers. All Legionnaires and their ladies who wish to play softball are urged to communicate with Mr. White.

The Legion has had racing and boxing proposed to them, but the matter has been tabled until a location can be found satisfactory to the entire community. When this can be arranged, the Legion is ready to sponsor such events.

All ex-service men in this vicinity are invited to join the Palm Springs post. Those interested are asked to communicate with Adjutant Charles Henebry at El Rey Hotel.

The most recent new member is H. H. Quackenbush, Federal agent in charge of the Indian reservation.

Officers of the local post are Bill Seaton, commander; Charles Henebry, adjutant; Archie Moore, vice-commander; H. E. "Pat" Patterson, second vice-commander; Les Moore, sergeant-at-arms; George Karoly, chaplain; Nora O'Sullivan, historian; George Roberson, Earl Coffman, and Charles Henebry, executive committee.

Dorothy Kryci, 33 years old, San Bernardino beauty contest winner a decade ago, died of acute alcoholism in Los Angeles Friday night, an autopsy established.

The autopsy, ordered by Coroner Frank Nance of Los Angeles, brought the release of her fiancé, Richard E. Miller, who had been held pending an investigation.

She was found dead in an apartment, through which police said approximately 100 empty whiskey bottles were strewn. She and Miller were to have been married.

Palma Vena's Resorteers is the name of the new orchestra and entertainment group who entertain the guests each Friday and Saturday afternoon and evening at Carl's Restaurant and Rendezvous Roof. They formerly were at Arrowhead Springs Hotel and at various Hollywood studios. Buy in Palm Springs.

CHURCHES OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

"Truth" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all Christian Science Churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. The Golden Text is from the Psalms: "Thou, O Lord, art a God full of compassion, and gracious, long-suffering, and plenteous in mercy and truth."

A Scriptural citation in the Lesson-Sermon presents these verses from the Proverbs: "He that speaketh truth sheweth forth righteousness; but a false witness deceit. . . . The tip of truth shall be established for ever: but a lying tongue is but for a moment. . . . Lying lips are abomination to the LORD: but they that deal truly are his delight."

One of the correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, states: "Right and wrong, truth and error, will be at strife in the minds of students, until victory rests on the side of invincible truth. . . . Honesty is spiritual power. Dishonesty is human weakness, which forfeits divine help."

Entertains Family Of 22; Didn't Expect Them

"That family is coming to the Village Pharmacy to have some of my delicious hot chocolate," said Mike Laroe, the boss of the fountain, while some of his customers were looking at the picture of the famous Ostrander family of 22, published on the first page of The Desert Sun last week.

"Going to be your guests?" asked one of the customers.

"Sure," answered Mike. "I've invited them."

Mrs. Zaddie Bunker overheard the conversation. Sunday morning, while she happened to be in front of the Village Pharmacy, the Ostrander family came walking down the street, all 22 of them. One of the party, Mrs. Edward Choate, recognized Mrs. Bunker as an old friend of 25 years before when the two knew each other in Los Angeles. They stopped to talk, and Mrs. Bunker invited the family into the store.

"Here they are!" she said to Mike. "Here who are?" asked Mike. "The Ostrander family. You said you had invited them to have hot chocolate with you."

"Oh—the Ostrander family," gasped Mike.

So he put all his kettles on the stove, emptied all his milk bottles and chocolate cans into them and got busy to serve the guests he had "invited." He had only 20 stools at the counter so two of the Ostranders and others outside that family had to stand up.

"Well, we had a good time, and I hope they come back," said Mike afterward.

Local Carpenters Host To A. F. Of L. Group

On Saturday, January 8, members of the local carpenters union were hosts to 80 American Federation of Labor district councilmen, who chose Palm Springs for their first meeting of the new year.

Presiding over the Palm Springs meeting was C. T. Lehmann of Los Angeles, chairman of the district council. Representatives of the local union attending were Harold Smith, president of the local carpenters' union, Frank Evans and Bob Hall, local business representative.

The 80 men present were members of the District Council of Carpenters for Southern California, and practically all local carpenters unions in Southern California from Santa Barbara South were represented.

The carpenters held a business meeting in the Plaza theatre in the morning, and at 12:30 adjourned for lunch at the Royal Palms. The tables were set around the pool and following luncheon the business discussion was continued.

Mrs. F. B. Nathan arrived here from Chicago on Tuesday to visit some time with her brother, Reuben Miller, owner of the Miller building and Miller's Bicycle Shop and Gas Appliance Store. Mrs. Nathan left Chicago last Sunday.

Walter S. Hathaway, First Mayor of Banning Answers Summons

Death summoned Walter S. Hathaway at his home in Banning away at about 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, January 19. For some days previous to his death this venerable Banning citizen had been threatened with pneumonia and day and night attendance was required.

Mr. Hathaway, a native of Wisconsin, came to Banning from Milwaukee in 1883. He at once took a prominent part in shaping the destinies of the village, with that small group of indomitable pioneers who braved the hardships and inconveniences of the little town which was then a dot on the desert.

Engaging in the mercantile business,

Mr. Hathaway for many years conducted a general store at the location now occupied by Moore & Baird at the corner of San Geronimo and Livingston street. He retired from this business after a long term of service which was marked with unswerving integrity and lofty business ethics.

When Banning was incorporated as a city, Mr. Hathaway was chosen the first mayor of the city. His term was marked by progressive trend in the way of public improvements. Nearly six miles of the first concrete sidewalks of the city were installed under his administration. He served on the Banning Water Company board, local cemetery board and other public organizations. His capacity for detail made him an exceptionally capable official.

Your Idea

Your idea of a desert home may be something entirely different from "back home."

If so, possibly you would be interested in my New Modern California Desert Farm house built in a choice residential district.

It is complete—much of the furniture cannot be replaced. It is distinctive — individual.

The foreign type kitchen reflects the genius of the Architect while the baths and shower stalls of dull, soft-toned hand-made tile are unique and outstanding.

ON THE GOLF COURSE

The Palm Springs Men's Invitation championship, to be held at the Desert Golf Club, February 18, 19 and 20, is well under way. Posters have been sent to all the clubs in Southern California, to be followed up the latter part of this week with invitations. A. K. Bourne is chairman. Milton Hicks has undertaken the distribution of both posters and invitations.

Around the golf shop we hear the remarks, "This is certainly an enjoyable course to play, easy looking, but tricky to get around." Well, there certainly is a striking difference in this unique course as compared to others in California. The climatic conditions here require that the greens be planted every fall. The entire greens area is scalped, disced four ways and planted with three varieties of seed. During the winter season the greens are again reseeded at different times, in order to keep a good putting texture.

One may not notice it, but these greens are not as large as other greens, thus requiring more accuracy. Added to this, we have an "out-of-bounds" penalty on eight holes, plus the hazards of the palms, trees and bunkers. But there are times when we all get hot, and low scoring will be done, such as Ky Lafoon's professional record of 61, C. P. Erdman's amateur record of 62, and women's record of 72 by Mrs. L. D. Roper of Phoenix.

Big things that deserve congratulations: Carl Stolle's neat 75. Going out in 37 and back in 38 for best score of his golfing career; Geo. Ring defeating the two-time putting champ, L. DeGraff, in the Sunday putting contest put on by the Desert Inn; W. Keffer, Ridgewood, N. J., for his 71; Al Brigger, Seattle, 72; E. V. Sweizer for his 69; Mr. Innes, Hollywood, 70; George Ring's 87; Mrs. H. H. Timken, Canton, Ohio, who had a new 44.

Indians Vote To Raise Toll To Palm Canyon

At a meeting held on Wednesday night of last week at the fiesta house, the Indians of the Agua Caliente reservation voted in favor of raising the toll charges for admittance to Palm Canyon and Andreas Canyon.

Acting on a proposition put before them by H. H. Quackenbush, special officer in charge of the reservation, on instructions received by him from Washington that the matter be put before the local Indians for vote, the Indians voted to make the following revision in the present toll set-up. The ed, but only 2 persons per car can for entering either Palm Canyon or Andreas Canyon will remain unchanged, but only 2 persons per car can enter under the 25-cent minimum charge instead of five passengers, as is the case at the present time. Each additional passenger over two in a car will be charged 10 cents.

The new toll charge schedule will take effect as of Feb. 1, 1933.

Wildflowers Protected By New County Ordinance

Those esthetic and artistic sheep from Blythe which feasted on verbenas last spring in Coachella, ignoring the mesquite and catclaw, are to be stopped—if they should appear again. And all their tribe.

Acting to prevent wanton destruction of wildflowers in the desert and mountain regions of Riverside county, the board of supervisors Monday created two mammoth wildflower preserves in the Coachella Valley and near Palm Springs, and amended an existing ordinance to protect two popular desert flowers.

The ordinance creating the giant wildflower preserves was adopted under provisions of the Dilworth bill passed in the last session of the Legislature.

Areas protected by the measure include some of the districts having the most prolific displays of sand verbenas, desert primroses and dozens of other species of flowers.

Prevention of wanton destruction of the wildflowers such as experienced last year when tens of thousands of persons flocked into the Palm Springs and Coachella Valley districts is the aim of the new ordinance, according to Supervisor Dillon of Beaumont, sponsor of the measure.

The amendment of the old ordinance gives protection to sand verbenas and desert primroses, two flowers inadvertently overlooked when the original wildflower ordinance was adopted.

COUNTY JOBLESS TOTAL RELEASED

Results of Riverside city and county unemployment censuses, conducted in November by postoffices in each city, were released Tuesday in Washington, D. C. They showed a total of 3142 totally or partially unemployed, $44 on emergency work and 918 partly employed. In the county, similar totals were 3096 unemployed, 1754 on emergency work and 2103 partly employed.

When the national totals were released early in January by Director John D. Biggers of the unemployment census, it was estimated that 12 per cent of the nation's adults were in need of private employment. Riverside's percentage, based on the 1930 census population figure of 29,696, was the national ratio, was 4.6 per cent and the county 3.8 per cent. However, growing population in both the city and county would decrease these percentages.

A total of 7,882,912 registered as needing work throughout the United States, but Biggers at one time estimated the actual number might range as high as 10,800,000. In California 258,000 registered as unemployed.

Alpine, Mono and Sierra counties had less than 100 each, while Los Angeles county led with 122,000 of which more than half were in the city of Los Angeles itself. San Francisco city and county of much smaller area, had 29,500 in search of work and 11,884 only partially employed. In Los Angeles an additional 53,067 had only part-time jobs.

The city of San Diego, with a 1930 population of 147,995, and 6268 jobless and 3103 partly employed; and Sacramento, 9375 population, 5119 jobless and 2161 partly employed.

Other Southland counties registered unemployment as follows: San Diego totally unemployed, 9307; partially, 4498; San Bernardino, totally, 5643; partially, 4044; Orange, totally, 4591; partially, 2915; Santa Barbara, 1712; partially, 3767; Imperial, totally, 1190; partially, 1266.

California had a population figured at 5,677,251 in 1930. It had 91,055 working on WPA, NYA, CCC or other emergency projects last November.

Tells About Rubber

Harry L. Whitney, district sales manager of the U. S. Rubber Co., was the speaker yesterday, and he told a very interesting story entitled, "The Romance of Rubber."

He said that more than $50,000 useful articles are now manufactured from rubber, and it would be impossible to manufacture many of these things from any other material. Because rubber will stretch, is adhesive, shock absorbing, and is the best insulating material, it adapts itself to many uses.

Among the manufactured articles is a rubber thread, so thin that it is only one-twentieth the thickness of a human hair. This thread is covered with silk or cotton and is used for many purposes.

Rubber was first discovered in Haiti by Christopher Columbus in 1492, when he discovered America. He took a little black rubber ball, which he obtained from the natives, back to Spain with him, instead of the gold he sought, and although it was considered valueless then, rubber has produced more gold than all the gold Spain has ever had, said the speaker.

Brazil was the first country to produce rubber he said, and it was introduced into British possessions of the Near East by Britishers who stole rubber seeds from Brazil. Now the Near East is the principal producer of rubber, while Brazil's principal crop is coffee, which it introduced from the lands which took her rubber production.

He said that Charles Goodyear discovered by accident the process of vulcanizing rubber when he spilled some of it on a hot stove and found that the melted rubber after it had cooled could be used much easier than the crude rubber.

Mr. Whitney had a bottle of latex, the pure sap as it came from the rubber tree, which looks very much like milk. He mixed this with ordinary vinegar, and the latex instantly formed into a soft rubber ball.

Following is a partial list of articles manufactured from rubber:

Tires for autos, trucks, buses, airplanes and bicycles, brake linings, tubes, repair materials.

Footwear, overshoes, sandals, rubber heels, Uskide soles.

Household goods—Hot water bottles, ice caps, rubber gloves and rubber aprons, fruit jar rubbers, inflatable toys, baby goods, tubing and sheeting.

Merriam, Governor of California. This regular weekly luncheon meeting will be held at Carl's Restaurant in the Plaza.

It is hoped that Roy Day, governor of Lions International from this district, will be able to attend the meeting. If District Governor Day is able to attend, it is planned to have him introduce Governor Merriam.

Incorporation

clerks working day and night, for 6,000 Palm Springs lots must be checked to get the names of the present owners and to ascertain if 25 per cent of the property owners owning 25 per cent of the value of all property in the proposed corporation have signed the petition. Then all signatures must be checked against their signatures on tax bills.

The incorporation committee will probably have to pay the salaries of checkers employed by title companies while the check-up is being made, and it is anticipated the cost for this will be about $500.

February 7—The county clerk is expected to be ready to make his report to the supervisors. If it is found there are a sufficient number of bona fide signatures, the petition is then filed with the board and the committee must deposit with the board a sufficient amount of money to pay costs of hearing and for the election. The board must then publish for two weeks a notice of hearing.

February 21, hearings may begin and continue until all objections, if any, have been heard.

March 20—Expiration date for hearings, and the board can then order publication of the notice of election. The last publication of this notice would then be April 2.

April 11—Election to decide on incorporation and to choose seven city councilmen, a city clerk and a city treasurer.

The rest of the summer the newly-elected councilmen and city officials will spend most of their time setting up the machinery of city government.

All property owners who have not signed the petition are urged to do so at once, because they will not have the opportunity to do so after Sunday night. Ludie Britsch, Dave Bixby, and John Sprague, Jr., have the petition and they may be reached by telephone.

The revised map of the proposed city is published on page five in this issue of The Desert Sun.

While San Geronio Pass Thursday was favored by gentle zephyrs, other localities in Southern California fared not so well.

In the Monrovia section a ripping wind prevailed, but little or no damage resulted.

In the desert around 29 Palms the wind gained such velocity as to remove a few chimneys and awnings.

Local Skeet Course Opened for Season Last Sunday

Skeet activities officially got under way for the season at Palm Springs' new Skeet Club last Sunday with a number of prominent people participating in the first day's shooting and giving every indication that skeet this year will likely attain even greater popularity in the village than ever before.

Among those observed on the beautiful new local skeet course the opening day were Mr. and Mrs. Sidney G. Walton of San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Walsh of St. Louis, R. H. Keffer of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Kellogg, Miss Mary Gillespie of White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia; Miss Cynthia Shields and Frank Bennett from Deep Well Guest Ranch and Mr. and Mrs. Snodgrass from San Francisco.

Floyd Bigley, local crack shot, who is ranked as one of the best shots in the country, took top honors for the day by running the first twenty-five straight.

Palm Springs' new Skeet Club is located on Ramon Road a short distance east of the Field Club. The course has just been completed under the supervision of Bradsher, manager of and instructor of the club. It is finely arranged and complete to the smallest detail, embodying Bradsher's own ideas which he has perfected in many years of experience at some of the country's finest clubs.

Bradsher expects to start construction of the club house about the first of next month. Extensive landscaping and ground beautifying is being done.

PALM SPRINGS AIRPORT DISPUTE SUIT BEGUN AT RIVERSIDE

Battle over aviation instruction privileges at the present Palm Springs airport formed the foundation of a suit for injunction brought by A. R. Parrish, Jr., against Carl G. Anderson and William M. Smith in Superior court at Riverside.

Superior Judge G. R. Freeman signed a temporary restraining order against the defendants and set Jan. 21 as the time for hearing on the permanent injunction.

Parrish, through his attorneys, Adams & Neblett, asserted that he signed an agreement with the Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce for sole aviation instruction privileges at the airport.

Anderson and Smith, he contends, are operating without authority through their "aviation club" which they formed.

He asks for approximately $2500 actual damages as assertedly caused by the defendants' activities.

A silver jubilee had been planned for February 6 by the people of Banning, but may now be canceled because of the death of the city's first mayor. Mr. Hathaway came to this region more than a half century ago, and was well-known in Palm Springs in the early days.

Jerry Farlin, genial traveling passenger and freight agent of the Southern Pacific Railway, dropped into The Desert Sun office today. Jerry is constantly busy serving the patrons of his company, which brings him to Palm Springs frequently throughout the winter months.

Arrives Here After 13 Years In China

Mrs. Louise Gilman, who has spent 13 years as a decorator in China, arrived here last week for an extended visit with her friend, Mrs. Aileen Stephens, at Helene's Trousseau Shop.

Mrs. Gilman has a factory in Shanghai where she manufactures period furniture, for which there is a strong demand in that metropolis of the Orient. She brought many beautiful Chinese works of art with her which are on display at Helene's Trousseau Shop in the Pacific building.

The many details required to put on this spectacular event are being completed by Les Vance and Andy Jaurigue, directors of the Palm Springs Rodeo show.

Leading cowboy bronc riders, steer ropers and bulldoggers are arriving daily from all parts of the country to compete for honors in the Palm Springs Rodeo following victories in competition at other major rodeos including Pendleton and Cheyenne. The Palm Springs Rodeo is affiliated with the Rodeo Association of America and cowboys will display their greatest skill because points won here count towards their national ranking.

Heading the list of entries is Everett Bowman, cowboy champion of the world for 1937. Other famous cowboys coming here to compete are: Smoky Snyder, Fritz Tuan, Doff Alber, Carl Shepard, John Bowman, Hugh Bennett, Breezy Cox, Canada Kid and others.

Abe Leften, famed rodeo announcer, will keep the crowd informed of activities of the two day rodeo spectacle through his microphone.

Charles Farrell, Amos 'n' Andy, Andy Devine, Gene Autrey and other radio and screen stars will ride in the grand entry parade on Saturday, Jan. 29, the opening day. The parade will be led by Jean Fulford, 1937 Palm Springs Rodeo Queen. The new queen will be announced on opening day.

12 Aviators Fly Here To Have Lunch

Lunching on the patio of Royal Palms Hotel with food served from the kitchens of Jack Moore's Royal Palms Coffee Shop were twelve members of California Flyers, Inc., school of aviation.

The group flew from their headquarters at Los Angeles Municipal Airport to Palm Springs in six airplanes.

Among those who made the trip here were: Chief Pilot L. R. Seeley, Joe Swinney, Don Young and T. S. Ostermaier, instructors; Bob Klein, Chris Rears, Barse Scott, Laurie Shapiro, Bill Wible, John Davenport, Tony Cirello and Irma Tarabino, students.

Mrs. H. G. Carnell, owner of the Carnell building and the Plaza, Palm Springs' most outstanding development, arrived at the Desert Inn this week to spend the winter months on the desert.

TIME TO BUILD

By RALPH R. SUTHERLAND

Editor Desert Sun:

Anyone owning a residential lot in Palm Springs and who contemplates building a winter home here, should build now, when so many timid people are still "purse-string-tied" from scare caused by the dumping of big blocks of corporation stocks controlled by big holding companies, in order to establish losses prior to income tax compilation.

Thereby they scared small stockholders into dumping their meager holdings at a loss, hoping to turn them against the administration. By blaming their raid on gilt-edge full dividend paying stocks on the administration they partially demoralized the stock market and scared timid, unsuspecting people into temporarily hoarding their money.

Politics is a great game, always has been and will continue to be played, by fair or foul means, to win favor by the party out of power.

Don't think that the present heads of government do not know who started the stock raid, but the dignity of the President forbids naming them. It is a wise population we have in America today.

Any ulterior motive must be pulled in a smoother way, if it is to fool the people. Any school boy knows there was no sense or reason for a stock slump in such prosperous times. So some timid ones are scared into not taking advantage of the big accumulation of all kinds of building material that can be purchased now, cheaper than at any future date, for it is impossible to stop for long this great nation, in its stride of prosperity.

It is safe to predict that a dollar today will go 50 per cent further in building, than one year from now.

But, will the wise, contemplating home-builder see this condition and act promptly?

There is not a doubt but this slight manufactured recession (politely called) is fading away like fog before the sun, and that we will soon see the full sunshine of prosperity again.

It is also noticed how placidly some big, loyal G.O.P. supporters, who depend on winter visitors to enhance their fortunes, like to have their guests stay at home; scared to death by the slump in stocks—caused by the actions of a few big daddies of their G. O. P. It hurts, many ways, but politics just must be played, no matter how bum the grade is or who it hits—big or little—which matters not to the few big financial giants, whose motto is to "rule or ruin" any President.

—Ralph R. Sutherland.

Louis Pappas of Philadelphia, who began a one man battle 15 days ago against "bum business" by raising wages, cutting prices and hiring additional help at his restaurant reported that customers increased 68 percent over any previous 15 days in eight years. Food for thought, in that experience.

Rodeo Queens To Ride Here Sunday

A feature event at the gymkhana to be held at the Palm Springs Field Club on Sunday, Jan. 23, will be the competition between local young girls to determine who will reign as 1938 queen of the Palm Springs Rodeo. The winning girl will act as queen at the big annual desert rodeo to be held at the Field Club on Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 29 and 30.

Among the girls who will compete are: Cynthia Shields of St. Paul, Minn.; Miss Pat Percival, Miss Theda Watson, Miss Francilla Abbot, Miss Jane Hendrick and Miss Margaret Rogers. The girls will be judged 25% for costume and 75% for horsemanship riding ability. Each entry must be unmarried and have competed in at least two Palm Springs gymkhanas.

Travis Rogers has donated a cup to be presented to the stable or ranch scoring the most points in the gymkhana events on Sunday.

A parade of various stables and ranches will start from the El Mirador at 1 p. m. A grand march will open the afternoon program at the Field Club at 2:30 p. m. Advance sale of tickets at hotels, various shops, stables and ranches indicate a capacity audience for Sunday's gymkhana.

Following is the program:

Parade starting at El Mirador at 1 p. m. It is requested that a banner showing name of each stable and ranch head each group with as many participants as possible.

JURY TRIAL ON INSANITY CHARGE ORDERED BY COURT

Major J. Paulding Edwards, Palm Springs resident who was committed to Sawtelle veterans hospital as insane after issuing several assertedly fictitious checks, has demanded a jury trial on the insanity complaint.

Communication from Edwards was received by Presiding Judge O. K. Morton and he set Jan. 24 as date for trial. Regular panel of superior court jurors will be called and the trial will be conducted before Acting Superior Judge R. A. Moore, it was ordered.

It was asserted that Edwards cashed a number of worthless checks in Palm Springs and vicinity.

Cowgirls Bring Atmosphere of The Old West

More atmosphere of the real "Old West" was brought to Palm Springs when Beth Chase last week opened her new Idyllwild Palms Stables at the spot formerly occupied by the Lane's Stables.

Beth Chase and her sister, Miss Dorothy Varnum, who is associated with her at Idyllwild Palms Stables, are the real "McCoys" in their roles as "cowgirls." Raised on their father's cattle ranch in Siskiyou county, Northern California, they have been around horses most of their lives, and have the philosophy of the true Westerner instilled in them.

For the last two summers they have operated stables in the San Jacinto mountains. This past summer they were located at Idyllwild, and the previous summer they operated the stable at Tahquitz Lodge, so these two charming sisters are known to many of the localities of the village. In the future they plan to operate here during the winter season and at Idyllwild during the summer.

The local stable was purchased by the sisters in the early part of December but was not open to the public until last week. Opening with a string of 16 horses, with more coming, the new stable has been very active during its first few days of operation. Several "luncheon" rides have been made to B-Bar-H ranch, north of Garnet, a round trip of 20 miles, and several "moonlight rides" conducted by the new stable were very well attended. Thirty persons attended one of the moonlight rides, and on another occasion 23 persons were in attendance. Wienie bakes were enjoyed conjunction with the moonlight rides. Many are also riding from their stable on the Wednesday "breakfast ride."

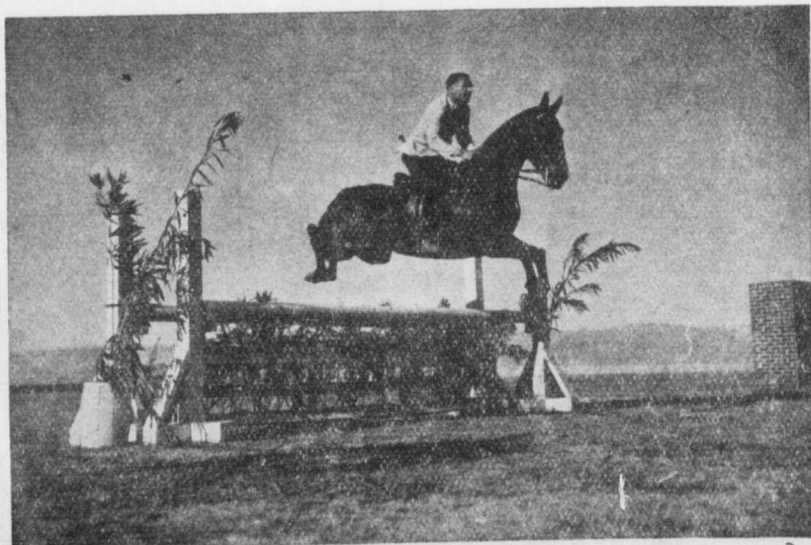

Beth Chase and her sister have led very interesting lives. They were for a number of years a very popular radio team. Mrs. Chase sang and Miss Varnum accompanied on the piano, and on other occasions they both sang as a duet team. During their radio days, these two sisters entertained at one time or another over every station in San Francisco and Oakland. Beth Chase also played the Orpheum Circuit for a time.

It is the plan of Mrs. Chase and Miss Varnum to cater especially to private parties. Also they plan to feature the luncheon rides to B-Bar-H ranch and "moonlight rides." A competent guide service is among the many services obtainable at their new Idyllwild Palms Stables.

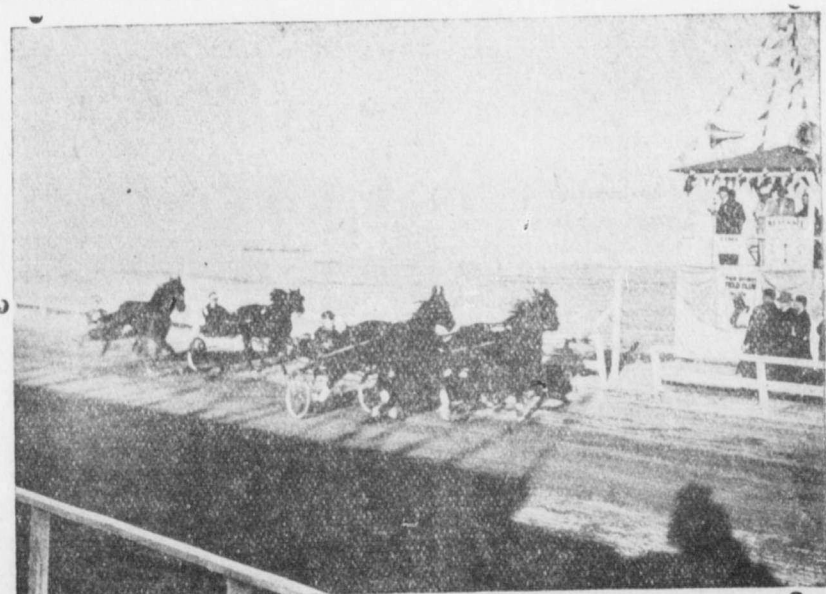

The sisters are making many improvements at the stables. Not least among these are the improvements being made in the old residence. Much has already been accomplished, and more extensive improvements are planned.

Two weeks ago their horse, Eagle, won the blue ribbon in the jumping event at the Deep Well gymkhana, and they plan to enter him in the elimination jump in Sunday's big affair.

The sisters are well pleased with the progress they have already made during their few weeks of ownership of the stable.

Cheerio

A CHEERFUL
LITTLE EARFUL

(By Philip Kasper)

CHEERIO SAYS:

There's nothing in the motion if you haven't got the curve. Perhaps beautiful belles can tell us something about that, but be that as it may, the expression has a depth of meaning and can be multitudinously applied. The little poem below gives vent to our feelings about it:

When Jimmy Jimson starts to pitch
At baseball on the mound,
He gives his little head a twitch
And ties himself in knots
He bends his knee and lifts his toe,
Then swings the ball amazingly,
Before he lets it go.

But Tommy Tompson's not the same
A different kind of game, he plays,
Upon the mound.
He sizes up the boy at bat,
He looks him in the eye
And takes a little step like that,
And lets the pellet fly.

And thus the game of life is played
When you are one and twenty;
You'll find in every line of trade
Of Jim's and Tom's aplenty
I think this humble notion
For a moral well will serve,
There's nothing in the motion
If you haven't got the curve.

Short On Help

When Sam and Rastus, two inseparable pals, ended their earthly careers almost simultaneously, their colorful souls became separated, and as the story goes, Sam found himself in the portals of heaven while Rastus fell heir to the coal shoveling business. Estranged as they were, fortune had it that they were able to phone each other and so we have the following conversation:

A Foxy Story With a Moral

Upon a time once a hunter a fox caught, home with him took and to a kennel chained him. To assuage his carnal appetite, bread and water became his reducul diet.

Pretty soon the hunter began to miss his chickens. He thought first of the young fox, but could he kill them chained as he was! The hunter, however, decided to conceal himself nearby the fox's kennel, and ken his propensities. The fox came out of his shack and exposed himself to the grub his master placed in his favorite saucer. "For the love of Mike," granted the fox, "what, no meat once more, don't I get a change of eats?" Pick-

Dr. Gray will be gone until the first part of the week. During his absence he has been most fortunate in securing the services of Dr. Russell Lister of Los Angeles, a most able, experienced physician, who will take charge of his practice while he is away from the village.

The giddy hens began to cluck with glee over their find when the stealthy fox joined the party and grabbed hold of a piece of chicken, placed it on a piece of bread and retired to his kennel to enjoy a savory dish of chicken-a-la-fox.

NEW TRIAL PLEA LOST BY M. W. D. IN CAJALCO CASE

The Metropolitan Water district lost its motion for new trial of the first phase of the Cajalco condemnation action on ruling of Superior Judge G. R. Freeman at Riverside, Monday.

Without detailing the reasons for his ruling, Judge Freeman filed a brief ruling with Clerk J. Clarence Roberts that the motion by the district, taken under submission several weeks ago, be denied.

"The Hayloft" Is Bill Hay's Home Here

"The Hayloft" now hospitably designates the completed desert abode on Vista de Oro of Bill Hay, pleasant voiced radio announcer of "Amos 'n' Andy." As charming as the folk who inhabit the home is the warmth and kindness felt as soon as one steps over the threshold of Mr. and Mrs. "Bill" Hay.

Fir beams in the high-ceilinged living room have all been hand-filled by the contented owner. Without intent or purpose, the wooden ceiling lends itself as a splendid sounding board, and perfect acoustics have been achieved for vocal or instrumental entertainment. Two very fine Grimm paintings adorn the walls.

The fireplace, occupying most of the west wall, is designed of native stones. Each stone has special significance in the heart of the announcer. Each one a special history—many of them gifts of friends.

Beginning with a stone in the center of natural keystone formation, long a symbol of strength, a master mason has produced an effect of symmetry and grace that holds one's attention without knowing why until it finally dawns on the consciousness that architectural balance and beauty have produced the seeming simplicity.

Outside, Mr. Hay has had the fun of building his own fence—a kind of rustic, corral-like effect of eucalyptus, quite in keeping with the desert background.

If one finds this amiable person in the right mood, many treasures will be revealed, none less interesting than his decorations as Knight of the Crown of Italy (D. Gravanzola) presented him in 1928 by Il Duce, an honor seldom bestowed and possibly never in the future upon those foreign to the country of Italy.

This year, they are again broadcasting from the tower of El Mirador.

Government of Japan Buys P. S. Painting

"Desert Verbena," one of Paul Grimm's finest paintings, at the Findlay Galleries, has been purchased and shipped to the Orient for exhibition purposes by the Japanese government. Through K. H. Yoshida, this work was selected by Japanese emissaries, as representative art of this entire region.

It is a notable fact that Japanese art collectors have been combing the American art world, since 1925, for the finest and best works of our most outstanding American artists.

Trained Cat Performs

Did you by chance happen to see "Mickey," the trained tortoise colored Persian cat in a red harness, on the street? His owner, Lou Barton, was parked at the Indian Trail camp over the week-end and was showing the intelligence of his performing pet to an admiring group last Friday night.

His best stunts were doing a "Joe E. Brown," as he opened his mouth to a cavernous size that seemed a shade bigger and better than Joe's; and his boxing with the owner while he stood erect on his two hind feet was worth an admission fee.

Public Library Notes

Once there was a king who had three sons. The sons, alas, were hostile to education. Perceiving this, their father summoned a certain wise man and desired him to instruct the princes in the art of intelligent living. The wise man took the boys, and made them learn by heart five books which he composed. Since then this work on the art of intelligent living, called Panchatantra, or the Five Books, has traveled the world. Its wisdom is contained in verses liberally scattered through its pages.

Some things a man should tell his wife,
Some things to friend and some to son;

All these are trusted. He should not Tell everything to everyone.

This, on the loss of friends:

They may be honored gentlemen,
They may be devoted be,
Yet servants leave a monarch who
Forgets the salary.

Or, on the other hand:

A king may scold
Yet servants hold,
If he but pay
Upon the day.

This, on the winning of friends
(written 2000 years before Dale Carnegie):

"Come! Enter! News from town?
A chair! You look run down.
Welcome! Why have you slighted
Our home so long? Dee-lighted!"
Such kindly words as these
May set the mind at ease,
And friends be glad to go
Where they are greeted so.

Or:

Wherever hosts look vaguely 'round
Or fix their glances on the ground,
The guests who visit such a place
Are hornless, yet of bovine race.

There is a copy of the Panchatantra in the library.

New Palm Springs Highway Now Assured

The new 100-foot state highway, from Chino Canyon curve, three miles northwest of Palm Springs, to Cathedral City, by-passing Palm Springs, will probably be started soon and completed within a year. The state highway commission has secured all rights-of-way, and it is said there is sufficient money in the state highway treasury to build the new road this biennium.

It is reported the new highway has been placed at the top of the list of Southern California highways slated for improvement, because the state recognizes the fact that something must be done as soon as possible to relieve traffic congestion in Palm Springs.

A new business center, consisting of all forms of highway business, will be formed on the new highway on the present eastern outskirts of Palm Springs. The new business section will be midway between Indio and Banning, on the main highway, for when it is completed it will be designated the main U. S. Transcontinental Highway 99, 60 and 70.

The new business district will be in the center of a 16 or 18-mile stretch of highway, for only about a mile of the frontage being privately owned, the balance being either government or Indian land, which cannot be purchased. It is expected that auto courts and service stations will spring up there due to the fact that they can get all-year highway business as well as Palm Springs winter patronage.

There is a growing belief that the sooner we drop our guardianship of the Philippines the better off we will be. So much cannot be said of the fate of the Islands.

The new Palm Springs State Highway has created a new but extremely limited real estate commercial development in the north end of the village. Opportunities open for medium priced hotels, bungalow and auto courts with recreational features.

Adjoining depth of property ideal for de luxe developments. Most logical commercial development available in Palm Springs for years.

Limited offering at prices which should show tremendous investment returns.

This will be a 100-foot highway and will be the main U. S. Transcontinental Highway 99, 60 and 70.

Protected against competition north and south by 16 or 18 miles of this same highway which passes through government or Indian land and which therefore cannot be purchased.

As yet there are no privately owned auto courts in or near Palm Springs.

Must Sell Southern California To a Million More Tourists

To maintain its $216,000,000 tourist business at the present level, Southern California must "be sold" during 1933 to at least a million Americans who as yet never have seen the Southland, directors of the All-Year Club, the area's official non-profit tourist organization, were told today in annual meeting.

Exploding the popular belief the mainstay of this area's vastly profitable tourist business are travelers who return again and again, President J. R. Page revealed results of a questionnaire survey of 6708 tourists who arrived during 1932, showing:

Fifty-five per cent were making their first visit.

Eighty-seven per cent had never been here before 1932.

"This shows how vitally we depend upon new sales to maintain our tourist volume—sales which in any business are the hardest to make, and are limited by the number of available new prospects financially able to make a Southern California trip," President Page declared.

Members re-elected Page to the leadership he carried the past 12 months, naming with him Don Thomas as secretary and managing director of the All-Year Club. A recognized national expert on travel and travelers' habits, Thomas has headed the working staff of the organization for the past nine years.

New officers named included P. G. Winnett, president of Bullock's department store, first vice-president; Porter Bruck, title insurance company executive, second vice-president; Donald O'Melveny, investment banker, treasurer.

Fifty-seven directors, all leading Southern Californians, were re-elected to their positions and seven new ones were named including Alfred Harrell, Keith, Los Angeles business man; Dr. Charles Strub, general manager, Los Angeles Turf Club; Walter Schneider, president, Robinson's Department Store; Baron Long, president, Biltmore Hotel, Los Angeles; Don Gilman, vice-president, National Broadcasting Company; and Arthur G. Beggs, western sales manager, American Air Lines.

Reviewing the history of the All-Year Club, President Page revealed that since it was organized in 1921 to advertise the vacation attractions of this area, the summer tourist business has been built from scratch to more than a million visitors in the summer of 1932 and the winter business from 200,000 to more than 650,000 winter visitors this past year.

Desert Inn Galleries

(By June Day)

One of the finest exhibitions of Indian life and crafts is now showing at the Desert Inn Galleries until February 1st. It is an exceptional show which should not be missed. The wall space of the Gallery is divided between two artists, Kathryn W. Leighton and Frederic J. Behre.

Kathryn W. Leighton has long been famous for her Indian portraits. She has spent much time with the people she paints and after a stay with the Blackfoot Indian tribes of Montana was taken into the tribe under the name of Anna-tar-kee (Beautiful woman in spirit). She paints these heroic figures with sympathy and brilliance, seeking to perpetuate the color and character of a vanishing race for which she has learned profound re-views.

The Desert Inn Galleries presents also the paintings of Frederic John Behre which have caused no little amazement to the visitors of the Gallery. The third dimensional quality to these paintings is truly unique. The subject matter is interesting in itself, representing as it does the finest of Indian baskets, pottery, and Indian Rugs.

Rounding out this fine exhibition is a beautiful collection of Indian jewelry, pottery, and baskets, as well as a large group of the renowned "Two Grey-hill" Navajo rugs. Among this collection are the two rugs which took first and second prize in 1932 for being the most beautiful in pattern, and workmanship of all the rugs woven on the reservation for the year.

Murder Mystery Is Cleared Up By Explanation

A Banning lady, while driving home from Cherry Valley one night recently, had an unusual experience. A huge truck passed her car, struck a dog running on the road, reducing the animal to bits of flesh and blood. The lady's windshield was covered with the dog's blood and driving vision was thus impaired. She drove into a service station and asked the attendant to wipe the windshield. Seeing the blood, he was one surprised attendant. The evidence looked like murder or an accident in which human life or injury were involved. He took the car license number.

Then he started to wipe off the windshield, grew faint and almost passed out. The lady has knowledge of nursing and gave first aid to the service station attendant who acted in good faith in attempting to ferret out a crime that never happened.

Possibly the driver of the heavy truck did not realize that he had sent a canine to dog heaven; anyway he continued chuggly on his way without stopping.

THINKING ALOUD

By TED HODGES

Scribble Inn . . . . . Palm Springs.

During my week in Hollywood, dined at the old traditional Hollywood Hotel. Hardly recognized my old home of a few years ago. In the dining room they are painting gold stars on the ceiling, directly above many of the tables. Each star representing some celebrity who occupied the table below. The name to be indicated in blue beside the star.

Over in one corner Rudolph Valentino spilled soup on his shirt . . . fact. Near the door Bill Farnum munched caviar. In the center of the room Carrie Jacobs Bond broke bread, and later in the evening paid for it by singing for the guests.

Into this same room Bert Lytell wheeled Viola Dana, sprawled in a baby-carriage and tugging on a child's milk bottle. There is no star indicating their last resting place. Some say it is the orange-grove directly opposite on Hollywood Boulevard.

Reeks with tradition, this Hollywood Hotel. Have been favored with a look into the old register, which I predict some day will find its way into Smithsonian, as containing the greatest collection of famous signatures in existence.

I am sure many of the younger guests will recall the days when a real pal stood on the lawn below their room and gathered the luggage thrown from the window. The occupant then using the back stairs for a hasty exit . . . in lieu of a confiscated wardrobe for an unpaid board bill. Now that same wardrobe would require a small truck for shoes alone.

Today we hear of soup served in the "Orchid Room" . . . of a broadcasting studio. Warner's have just finished a picture "Hollywood Hotel." Do not be disappointed after seeing the film in all its splendor, if the hotel fails to reveal the magnificence of several scenes. After all Hollywood Hotel has just celebrated its 35th anniversary. The name is there, but tradition just does not register on celluloid.

Certainly the new vogue in radio programs, appealing to children, is disturbing many a serene household.

There was a time when a tube of tooth paste went the rounds of an entire family. Now a child with Mickey Mouse or Donald Duck tendencies insists on their particular brand—or else.

Seems the Republican party might campaign with Charlie McCarthy. Bergen for President, and Mr. Roosevelt may just as well start packing.

Fortune's comments on a recent radio popularity poll ranks the President between a dummy and an infantile nit-wit. Maine and Vermont may still be vindicated.

Have heard of many swaps, but this rates the big apple—A cocktail shaker for a baby carriage. "Hell Hitler."

Big business, Charlie Wood Jr. and Ernie Clauson. Off in a corner of Ramon Trailer Park, negotiating for the peanut and popcorn concession.

Facetious—A lady riding side-saddle, always giving me the impression she hasn't quite made it. An occupant of one of those lemon-colored taxis—a glorified fit. Some women in sun suits—first thing they could find with the house afire. Palm Springs of a Sunday afternoon—circus in town. Most radio announcers—an elephant when suddenly alarmed. A trailer park to sightseers—the place to have your fortunes told. A trailer outfit scampering along a highway—"Scat!"

Drug store cowboy—a shirt without a tail. Palm Canyon Drive—New York's Fifth Avenue. London's Strand, Chicago's Michigan Boulevard, the Rue de la Paix of Paris, Hollywood Boulevard and a bit of Coney Island—as seen through the eyes of a needle.

Snow-capped San Geronio—Methuselah—wondering what it's all about—below.

Some home-made trailers—A Chick Sale "Specialist" on wheels. Many radio crooners—if a cucumber could sing, Boake Carter—Big Ben booming the hour from London. The voice of Andy Devine, a cactus bursting into song. Swing music—an orchestra tuning up. A snack at the counter of a Palm Springs drug store—a dollar bill broken at a county fair.

"WELLS FARGO" FILM TRIBUTE TO PIONEERS, AT PALM SPRINGS THEATRE, TODAY, SATURDAY

BOB BURNS, JOEL MCCREA AND A PLAYER

The story of America's "Lifeline of Empire," the Wells Fargo Trail, first highway to connect the East and Far West, forms the dramatic background for "Wells Fargo," the screen romance with Joel McCrea, Frances Dee and Bob Burns, which plays today and Saturday at the Palm Springs Theatre.

Painted on an heroic canvas, "Wells Fargo" traces the history of the opening of the West from the time of the discovery of gold at Sutter's Mill until the close of the War Between the States, with the express business of Henry Wells and William Fargo, which has developed into today's Railway Express Agency, forming the background.

For romance the picture follows the love story of a typical Western family, headed by McCrea and Miss Dee, who are married at the beginning of the picture. Their fortunes, closely linked with the expansion of the Wells Fargo business and the winning of the West, form the main theme of the picture.

In producing "Wells Fargo" it was the purpose of Paramount Pictures to pay tribute to the expressmen who played such an important part in the American history. These men were the first on the scene when gold was discovered in California, to carry news and supplies into remote mining camps and "diggings" and, on the return trip to carry out the gold for shipment to the East. The dangers they encountered, from Indians, bandits and Nature, supply the picture with inspirational appeal and thrills.

Bob Burns, who has played nothing but comedy in motion pictures, appears in his first "straight" role in "Wells Fargo," that of a philosophical Indian scout who befriends McCrea when he first comes into the West to open the trails for the Wells Fargo stages.

The brilliant cast also includes Lloyd Nolan, Henry O'Neill, Mary Nash, Ralph Morgan, John Mack Brown, Porter Hall, Jack Clark, Clarence Kolb, Robert Cummings, Co-starred in their new film offering, "Hitting a New High," Lily Pons and Jack Oakie, above, are partners in perpetrating a giant hoax, through which Miss Pons, cast as a Parisian night-club singer, permits herself to be "discovered" as a wild jungle "bird-girl," whose wonderful voice must be trained for grand opera. The picture, an amusing comedy filled with song and music, was produced by Jesse L. Lasky for RKO Radio distribution, and comes to the Palm Springs Theatre, Sunday and Monday, January 23 and 24.

"The Drunkard" Opens at El Paseo Theatre Tomorrow; Showing at 9:30 Nightly

Tomorrow (Saturday) night is the big night at the El Paseo Theatre, which opens for the season with "The Drunkard" for an engagement of at least one week. The show begins each night at 9:30.

Tourists and villagers will gather there nightly for an evening of fun, to cheer the heroine and hiss the villain. People who have seen "The Drunkard," return again and again, for, due to the participation by the audience, each performance brings new stunts. If you haven't seen "The Drunkard," you'll never forgive yourself if you miss it while the show is in Palm Springs.

Something new and different in the way of entertainment is promised by the Palm Springs Theatre, which presents William Hall, Anne Nagel and Steffi Duna in "Escape by Night" for Tuesday only, January 25.

Republic has put into this outstanding photoplay all the elements of good, sound drama, plus a novel twist which sets it head and shoulders above the average Hollywood gangster picture.

"Escape by Night" is a gangster picture, but the gang element is modified, and there is substituted in its stead a warm, human-interest characterization of five persons whose criminal careers have been a visitation, not a choice.

ANNABELLA, SENSATIONAL STAR- DISCOVERY, EXCITINGLY LOVELY IN "DINNER AT THE RITZ"

In a picture as tensely exciting as she is excitingly lovely, Annabella, the girl whose loveliness swept her to overnight stardom, plays the most dangerous game a beautiful girl in love ever chose in "Dinner at the Ritz," New World picture released by Twentieth Century-Fox which opens Wednesday, January 26, at the Palm Springs Theatre.

The glamorous actress, whose recent arrival in the film capital for her Hollywood debut provoked great excitement in the nation's press, is acclaimed as the loveliest thing on the screen. Her performance in her latest picture proves her the sensational star discovery of two continents.

Paul Lukas, David Niven and Romney Brent are featured in the cast supporting Annabella, which also includes Francis L. Sullivan, Stewart Rome, Norah Swinburne and Tyrell Davis.

George Burns and Gracie Allen, goofy screen, radio and stage comics, are co-starred with Fred Astaire in the musical romance, "A Damsel in Distress," RKO Radio picture, at the Palm Springs Theatre, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, January 27, 28 and 29.

PLAZA THEATRE

JOHN BOLES, JACK OAKIE
STAR, WITH IDA LUPINO,
MARGOT GRAHAM FEATURED

"Fight For Your Lady," a picture already hailed by pre-view audiences as one of the season's most amusing and original films, plays today, Saturday and Sunday at the Plaza Theatre. It is a comedy romance which scintillates with fast action and big-laugh episodes.

The fun starts right from the beginning at the ringdances of a wrestling match in London, England, when a wrestler who has agreed to "lie down," changes his mind at the crucial moment and wins, instead of losing. This leads, not to the usual complications of vengeance by a racketeer mob but to bankruptcy for his broke manager. So the latter switches his managerial abilities to the handling of an American concert singer, while the wrestler finds solace in the companionship of the singer's fiancée, an actress of gold-digging proclivities.

The action then shifts from London to Budapest, where a famous duellist and a pretty feminine night club entertainer cross the singer's path. With the result that the vocal star finds himself matched for a sword combat with the formidable duellist, from which he has scant chance of emerging alive.

Heading the players are John Boles and Jack Oakie who are co-starred, Margot Grahame and Ida Lupino. Erik Rhodes, portrays the sentimental though blood-thirsty duellist, whose softer feelings overcome his eagerness to dispatch his adversary with a sabre, when appealed to by a phoney "Old Mother" of the latter, who is really a male pal of the intended victim, in disguise.

Yesterday they made you "Wake Up And Live"—today you'll die laughing as WALTER WINCHELL (left) and BEN BERNIE continue the funniest feud in "his-story" in "Love And HisSES." SIMONE SIMON (center) sings for the first time in the Twentieth Century-Fox musical hit, which comes to the Plaza Theatre next Friday, Saturday and Sunday, January 28, 29, 30.

Cathedral City

(By VERA M. DUNN)

Opportunity

Here is a little editorial for Cathedral City, the little sister resort five miles east of Palm Springs. It is acquiring a reputation lately as a hide-out for scenario writers who wish a quiet place to think and write, without their Palm Springs friends knowing anything about their whereabouts, quite an idea at that. Friends are the best things on earth, but when they pop in at the wrong time and upset a valuable chain of thought that might be worth a mint of money if properly put down on paper, well, that's a horse of a different color.

And we have had a few actors and actresses lately who were able to hide-out quite successfully and enjoy a real rest.

Cathedral City, the so-called church town without a church, is really growing up. When the writer located here in 1931 it had about two or three homes and thirty shacks. Now it has about 200 homes, they say, and the shacks are few and getting scarcer. Some have been modernized, and dressed up, and have undergone the same process a few of the early shacks of Palm Springs went through about the time the writer settled here.

Somebody told me recently that we had between $90 and 1000 people here at the height of the season. This was confirmed by the new map of California hung up in the Totem Pole Cafe, which had us listed in its census at 1000 souls. This might be reduced some, as it is believed that some people in this town have lost their souls. A town without a church might be a good place for that to happen, but there are a lot of good people in this town—the friendly, good-natured, neighborly kind. If a man or woman lives in this town three days and hasn't made some friends to say "hello" to, it is because they are not human.

There are some good things about this town. You do not have to hike a long distance to get into the desert. It is right at your back door. There are hundreds of acres of desert inhabited by nothing but jackrabbits. This desert is fine for sunbathing, and no one will ever molest you or even peek at you, except an occasional aviator from Palm Springs who has the habit of skimming low over our territory sometimes. What he sees must be good because he always comes back.

There are a lot of interesting people in this town. One old fellow who has a little service station, spent 20 years on the lecture platform. Another business man used to be prominent in Alaska. Our news writer is an Alaskan also. I think another fellow used to be a member of the Canadian parliament. That quiet fellow over there with the prominent nose used to be a well known business man in Pittsburgh, Pa. Another quiet fellow used to keep things running smoothly at the Beverly Wilshire Hotel.

That lady over there is a well-known artist. That young chap with the gray hair was the first man to run around over the United States introducing hoist derricks to the major oil companies, to take the place of the old fashioned oil pits. A guy named Sinclair said they would never be a success, but he had to take it back and buy them too.

I don't know why those two prominent business men from Banning are down here. It must be warmer here. One fellow has enough orange groves to feed us oranges the rest of our lives.

Last year the town traveled and gave birth, of all things, to a Chamber of Commerce, with about 80 members. The Chamber had a good time debating whether to change the name of the town or not. Some contended that was a misnomer as there was no cathedral here. But this brought up the question of how many town names are not misnomers. For instance Los Angeles, which means "The Angels." Take San Francisco, too. Why, St. Francis never saw or heard of the spot. Cathedral City does have a canyon back of it whose steep high wall and pulpit rock resemble the interior of a cathedral—if you have an imagination.

This year the Chamber has assisted and helped erect an artistic billboard near the junction south of the Three Musketeers, letting the world know that we are here. A number of worthy objects will soon be accomplished. We are due for a school for this town, and would have it now if this need had been brought before the Desert District School board before the last allotment of funds was passed out.

Desert Art Colony Is Mecca For Artists, Painters

Cathedral City is becoming known more each year as a mecca for writers and artists. Many are the talented desert lovers who journey here from Carmel, Laguna Beach, Los Angeles and other places. A number of well-known artists own homes here.

It is the consensus of opinion among artists that Cathedral City is best located for desert compositions. Scenes from here permit breath, color, and fine background. Writers like it because the elevated view permits the whole desert to be seen, as well as the mountains, and it affords them a quiet, inspiring atmosphere far removed from city commercialism, and all the things such as noises, that the 20th century has developed which nauseates the efforts of artists and creative minds.

Some one has suggested that the arch to the city have a sign suspended from it, painted on it colorful Mexican with sombrero sleeping beside a cactus, and these words: "Cathedral City, Desert Art Colony." Oh, yes, lest the writer be lynched for omitting it, there should be near the bottom of the sign in legible letters that famous saying so often echoed here, "Where the sun shines an hour longer." Maybe the Chamber of Commerce can do something about this.

Very few towns of the United States spend as much for taxes and receive so little in return from the district that receives the same. It is said that the authorities are commencing to believe this and it is reported that they may do something about it soon.

Real estate values have advanced here in the last six years.

This brings me back to my text, "Opportunity." When I was a kid I was told that Old Man Opportunity only knocked once in a life time at every man's door, and if he did not heed the knock and welcome him, his chance of becoming a success in life was mighty slim thereafter. But when I came down here to the desert I found that Old Man Opportunity spent his winters here basking in the sunshine, and that was why he only got around elsewhere so seldom. I got acquainted with the old fellow and he has done right well with me. He said that a man with a nice appearing garage in this town could make a nice living. He also said that if a man put in a building with a barber shop in front, and a beauty parlor, and a pool room back of the barber shop, to give the men and boys some recreation, it would be a whale of a success, and I believe him. I heard of two women this year begging for a shop to rent for a beauty parlor and couldn't find one to rent.

A hotel and drug store too, were touched upon favorably.

Well, if I don't save some of my knowledge up for another editorial I had better quit right now.

Cheerio.

Chamber Acts On Important Matters

The meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was held Tuesday noon at The Totem Pole Cafe with about 25 members present. Raymond Cree, president of the school board of Banning and Palm Springs high school district, spoke in reference of the school situation in Cathedral City. He cited the condition of the road between Araby Point and Cathedral City and called attention of the citizens that some action should be taken by this district to see that the state and the proper county officials are contacted and have the road put in good condition, eliminating the dangerous hazards before the road is turned over to the county.

The committee that was appointed by the Chamber of Commerce to get estimates and figures on the housing of the fire truck and community meeting place, reported at the meeting. The committee submitted plans and sketches and estimated the cost of same, including lot and building. Size of building 20x40 feet at a cost of $1000.00.

E. F. Reilly, president of the Chamber of Commerce, along with other members figured out a system whereby a committee of three trustees be appointed to sell 100 notes at $10.00 each, to the citizens of Cathedral City, to finance the same.

Jack Grove and Deputy Sheriff Wilson attended the meeting. Mr. Wilson spoke in behalf of patrolling the district of Cathedral City. He was sent to Palm Springs by Sheriff Carl Rayburn of Riverside, but he is working under Chief Boller of Palm Springs. Mr. Wilson can be contacted through the Palm Springs Police Department.

ALPHONZO BELL RANCH NEAR EDMON SOON TO HAVE IMPROVEMENTS

An extensive building project including two modern residences, a railroad spur track and numerous feeding pens will be started at the Alphonzo Bell ranch, near Edom, on January 24, according to an announcement made.

The two dwellings, constructed in desert style design, will be for the use of the foreman and the manager.

The spur track will connect the ranch headquarters with the Southern Pacific main line and stock corrals and a loading chute will be erected. A platform for loading baled hay to the cars and for handling other material which will come or go in carload lots will be installed.

There will be a number of additional feeding pens for cattle, with facilities for handling the hay and other feed for the hundreds of head of cattle fattened there each winter. The number of cattle is to be materially increased as soon as the facilities are available.

Among the crops to be produced on the ranch this year are Irish potatoes, more than 100 acres being now planted.

Packing houses for grapes and grapefruit will be needed this year and are included in the present program of construction.

At least one new well will be put down on the Bell ranch this year and several hundred acres of new alfalfa will be developed. The total ranch acreage exceeds 3500.

The federal G-men are to be congratulated upon their success in rounding up kidnapers. Make the U. S. A. a danger spot for murderers and other outlaws.

Martha Rays, famous stage and screen comedienne, entertained a group of Desert Inn guests, at a moonlight desert ride last week, Thursday night.

With the full moon above, the aroma of campfire coffee and sizzling bacon guided the guests to a spot on Palm Canyon wash above the Smoke Tree forest.

Chuck Abbott and Johnnie Boyle had a fine bed of hot coals ready on which to toss thick, juicy steaks when they heard the first sound of beating hoofs and gay laughter.

After supper everyone sang songs to tunes played by Whiteflower and Johnnie Boyle. Martha Raye was most generous with songs, and her comic antics brought on one round of laughter after another.

Everyone enjoyed games, such as musical chairs, run-Rover-run, and other games to the tune of Miss Raye's ability for fun making.

Those who attended the moonlight party were: Mrs. Harvey Bissell, Los Cruces, N. M.; Mr. and Mrs. Philip A. Hershey, Piedmont; Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Schock, St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Hoffman, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Schwartz, New York City; Mrs. Fred Rice, Beverly Hills; Mr. Lynn Foree, Oakland; Miss Martha Raye, Beverly Hills.

Meet Your Son

By ERNEST ANDREW ROGERS
National Child Welfare Authority;
President, Montezuma School for Boys

Your boy's reasonable desire to be alone a part of the time is a desire to be respected. But if his tendencies are actually unsocial, if he holds himself consciously apart from others, and purposely steers clear of people generally, then it is important to locate the reason, and to find means of showing the lad that his aloofness is shutting him off from much of the joy and richness of living.

Unsociality may have its roots in a feeling of physical inferiority or a lack of understanding of physical things. That can be cleared through the sometimes slow, but certain, process of gaining his closest confidence and talking things out. Perhaps the blockade is simply a selfish unwillingness to share his pleasures and possession with others. Or it may be super-sensitiveness—the reflex of a shy, retiring nature.

The obvious means of striking a happy balance of sociability without sacrifice of individuality, is to make the lad see what he's missing. He must be encouraged to make friends. It is well to make his room as attractive as possible, with two lounging chairs and two beds, so that it can accommodate guests and serve as an inducement to bring other boys home with him. If he has even a minor talent it is important to strengthen it, and let him exhibit it for the pleasure of others. Any human being finds it pleasant to be appreciated, and that way lies companionship and friendship.

A completely different problem is faced with the boy who is too sociable—who prefers to follow the crowd, and who is afraid of "being different." That boy must be steered at once toward the right kind of associations. Moral courage must be built as a basis for developing his own convictions. He must be maneuvered occasionally out of the rear ranks and into the front. He must be inspired to leadership.

Fighting shy of "being different" is a normal trait among most boys. There is a definite period of anonymity through which they must pass on the way to growing up, when any conviction, behavior, manner of speaking, eating or dressing which may distinguish them in any way from the crowd, is avoided like a plague.

But if your son is a pretty clear thinker, you can put it squarely up to him—whether he'll be content to follow the crowd—a member of the chorus—or whether he prefers to think and act for himself, an individual, and eventually a leader. His desire, and his decision, without much question, will be the right one.

Income Tax Examiners Now In The Field

Facing an unprecedented volume of tax returns in the next sixty days Nat Rogan, collector of internal revenue for Southern California, today announced that a corps of over 100 deputy internal revenue collectors has been assembled to assist residents in his district to file income tax forms for 1938.

Over 2,000,000 tax returns will pass through his office by March 15, stated Collector Rogan as he sounded a warning to all taxpayers to file their returns immediately to avoid the anticipated last-minute rush. Income, social security, and various miscellaneous taxes all fall due within the sixty day period.

A branch office of the internal revenue service is located in the Federal building, Riverside. Deputy collectors are already on hand at this office to give valuable assistance to federal income taxpayers in this vicinity, and all are urged by Collector Rogan to avail themselves of this opportunity at the earliest possible moment. In addition to advising in the execution of all the necessary forms these deputies will notarize signatures at no cost to the taxpayer.

dian. Mr. Biery is an interesting speaker.

The Indian motif will be carried out in the decorations, and an interesting program has been prepared including dances by Indian students from Sherman Institute.

Please make reservations for the luncheon with the local secretary not later than Saturday, January 22.

The ladies are always welcome.

By JOE RODE

(This is second in a series of articles by Coach Rode, dealing with the various phases of watermanship.)

The Psychological Effect of Adaptation of Water

More important than the mechanics of swimming is the decided metamorphosis in the character of the beginner. To a youngster, the conquering of this new field tends to produce amazing self-reliance and courage. Who doesn't thrill to the tales of men facing death upon the battlefield, for the always feel a pleasant glow inside when I see a youngster grit his teeth and strike off on a deep-water test.

Parents often ask, "When shall I start to give my child swimming lessons?"

Children have been adapted to the water of the bath from birth and delight in it. At the age of a year or so, parents should introduce the youngster to a tub in the sunshine. The temperature of the water should range around 80 degrees by test. Gradually decrease the temperature until it reaches 72 degrees, which is the usual standard temperature maintained by pool operators all over the country. Then the youngster is ready for a shallow-end or baby pool. This adjustment will assure the "tot's" enjoyment of the new "bath tub."

I believe this is as good a time as any to suggest various phraseologies which should be used when handling "tots." The pool is called a big "bath tub." Never mention swimming lessons, always "let's play." In designating the arms, the right one is the "candy-hand"; the left one is then called the "ice cream hand"; in other words, use simple baby talk.

From the age of two and upwards, after this preliminary adaptation by the parents, the child may be turned over to a qualified children's instructor or the work carried on by both parents. From this period on the work takes on a different aspect. Patience is the keynote, because you are working not only in a physical plane, but in a higher one of spiritual dimensions. Actions are mainly directed by thought-control, as a youngster of tender years cannot understand or associate immediately an adult's spoken word with the action demanded. With the same utmost loving patience one employs in teaching a baby to talk or to walk, and through the medium of "passive-assistance," the youngster starts on the road to watermanship.

Passive-Assistance

While the introduction of passive-assistance is comparatively new to the swimming-instruction field, it springs from an age-old system called "Swedish movements." Doctors in their re-establishment work with polio cases, use greatly the medium of hydro-therapy. The operator supplies the action, the patient the only possible function, the thought. This movement is classified as "passive-assistance." If the neuro-muscular control is not lost and the weak muscle groups are strengthened sufficiently, the work passes into "passive-active." In this stage, the patient assists the operator. The next step is the "active," in which the re-establishment is more or less complete. Isn't it logical to assume that these basic principles could be utilized in the teaching or establishment of co-ordination in swimming. With "passive-assistance" as a worthy tool to work with, the hit-or-miss element in

Senior Play to Be Presented Here March 4

Booth Tarkington's popular play "Seventeen," played two weeks at the Murat Theatre in Indianapolis, one hundred performances at the Playhouse in Chicago, and eight months at the Booth Theatre in New York. "Seventeen" has also been presented by numerous high schools.

Obtain License Plates Early

Up to Wednesday morning 1301 license plates for motor car owners had been issued at the branch office of the California Motor Vehicle Department at the city hall in Banning. A quota of 4,000 plates was issued to this office, making a balance of 2,699 plates yet to go out.

Last year a total of 3,400 plates was recorded at this office.

It is extremely advisable that motorists get their plates early, and avoid the rush of the last few days. The personnel of the office cannot be enlarged and there is a limit to human endurance.

From today (Thursday) there are only 13 working days left in which to obtain license fees. There can be no extension of time. After expiration of the time limit a double penalty of $3.00 extra on plates must be collected, under the law.

Motorists will please act this week and thus make the local office continue next year as a convenience to public service.

A STATEMENT

FROM THE PALM SPRINGS PAINTERS, DECORATORS, AND PAPERHANGERS

TO THE

Citizens, Home-Owners, and Guests of Palm Springs

It is the primary purpose of the Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers to maintain the highest attainable standard of efficiency in their chosen profession.

Mutual interest runs in the same groove. Members of the Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers have the same interest in performing good work for employers (builders) as builders (employers) have in receiving the best available talent for their prospective jobs or contracts.

A higher wage means higher receipts for merchants. An exaggerated wage will decrease business in general. The Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers do not, according to their present agreements with employers, ask an exaggerated wage that would frighten away potential builders and prospective home-owners. Recently Henry Ford has again appeared in the nation's press urging his doctrine of higher wages.

The Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers are positively not interested in even having misunderstandings arise. Their business representative is at all times prepared to discuss questions, and to dispel doubts that might arise in the minds of employers and contractors.

The Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers consider themselves an integral part of this community's life and will always conduct their organization in this spirit of cooperation. They are vitally interested in all movements, from whatever quarter they may spring, which have as their purpose the improvement of Palm Springs as a community and the betterment of civic life.
